TIGER WOMAN CLINGS TO HOPE FOR FREEDOM

Mrs. Phillips Believes Her Friends Will Cause Re-hearing of Trial

By WILLIAM PARKER
For International News Service
EN ROUTE WITH CLARA PHILLIPS AND HER GUARDS TO SAN QUENTIN, June 2.—Disheartened but still hopeful for a new trial, Mrs. Clara Phillips, the convicted "hammer murderer," was nearing San Quentin penitentiary today to begin serving a term of from ten years to life imprisonment for the murder of Mrs. Alberta Meadows, whom she accused of stealing her husband's love.

Mrs. Phillips and her baby sister, Mrs. Etta Mae Jackson, were awakened shortly after 7 o'clock this morning by Mrs. Eugene Biscailuz, the matron, who is one of the guards. The Sunset Limited was brought from New Orleans, was due to arrive at San Francisco at 10:30 o'clock. Arrangements were made by telegraph by Under Sheriff Biscailuz, in charge of the guards, to have a touring car meet the train on its arrival in San Francisco and take the party directly to the ferry, hoping to reach there in time to board the 10:45 a. m. ferry for San Quentin prison.

Plan Legal Battle
Following an extended conference with John L. Richardson, the Los Angeles attorney retained by Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. Jackson decided to return at once to Los Angeles to aid in the legal battle to bring about a new trial for Mrs. Phillips.

"I have not abandoned hope," said Mrs. Phillips today, "but I will frankly say that I am bitterly disappointed when I received information at Los Angeles that I would be taken directly to prison."

"The San Quentin officers need make no special preparations for a rebellious prisoner. There need be no fear that I will endeavor to escape. My life has been a series of unfortunate mistakes and my escape from the Los Angeles county jail last December was the biggest one of all. I am going to enter into the life of San Quentin with the knowledge that there are enough people who believe in my innocence who will defend their part to have this case heard."

Husband Takes Blame
If Mrs. Phillips is granted a retrial, her principal witness will be her husband, Armour L. Phillips. To the International News Service correspondent he said:

"I am the one who should be pushed for this crime. I am the guilty person. There is no legal way whereby I can take her place in prison but I shall go on the stand and tell of my romance with a girl who is not here to defend her name. But there was a (Continued on page 8)

Mystery in Death of Girl Slain in Auto

LOS ANGELES, June 2.—A new mystery murder raised its head here early today when a barrage of revolver shots ended the life of Miss Florence Wilcox and seriously wounded Miss Dorothy Miller as the two girls were speeding west on Jefferson street in an automobile with Clarence Ogden.

Another man, known only as "Chubby," who was in the car and a companion of one of the girls, ran from the machine after it had been stopped in front of the University police station.

CLARA PHILLIPS IN SAN QUENTIN

Arrives at State Prison and Receives Number; Breaks Down

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Cal., June 2.—Mrs. Clara Phillips, the convicted "hammer murderer," is now a convict in San Quentin penitentiary.

The prison doors of San Quentin clanged on Mrs. Phillips at 12:03 this afternoon, cloistering for a period ranging from ten years to life imprisonment, a woman only 24 years old who was found guilty of one of the most heinous crimes ever attributed to a normal person.

Her arrival was marked by a prolonged fit of weeping. Joseph Woodworth, lieutenant of the yard and in charge of the receiving office, will make a record of her name, relatives, age, previous occupation and previous prison record, if any. At the identification bureau she will be photographed and her fingerprints taken.

Then will come the final severance from the outside world. Under her number, which will be 37,944, she will be taken in charge by Josephine Jackson, for thirteen years matron of the women's department. She will be given her prison uniform of light blue material and assigned a cell—probably with one of the seven women now serving life sentences.

Her cell will be in a low brick building, from whose windows the "death house" can be seen. It is completely isolated from the men's quarters. Only at night when the men are locked up may the women prisoners venture forth in the yard for exercise.

A number of the older Glendale residents will be shocked to hear of the death of Mrs. Frank S. Du Puy, former well-known local resident, who shot herself Friday at the home of a neighbor in Wilmington, Calif. The reason given for the shooting was given as despondency over health and her inability to care for her seven children.

Mrs. Du Puy is survived by her husband, six sons and a daughter. The Du Puy lived for many years on East Colorado boulevard, where five of their children were born. Mr. Du Puy was formerly proprietor of the Glendale Garage & Machine Shop.

The family moved from Glendale to Oakland about four years ago, returning to southern California and the present home in Wilmington eighteen months ago.

DRY LAW BIG ISSUE FOR POLITICAL PARTIES

Wet and Dry Leaders See Big Fight in New York Governor's Repeal

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service
WASHINGTON, June 2.—The Volstead law, overnight, has become one of the paramount issues, if not the chief issue, of the 1924 campaign.

Political leaders of both wet and dry persuasion, Republicans and Democrats alike, joined today in this interpretation of the situation arising from New York's repeal of the state enforcement law and the remarkable statement of principles with which Governor Al Smith accompanied his approval of the repeal bill.

The immediate physical effect of the repeal in the relief of the prohibition situation in New York is not regarded as so important, for the federal government will simply reinforce its dry agents in the state.

Considered Significant
It was the statement of Governor Smith, setting forth his reasons for approving the bill, that was considered most significant—outlining as it did a national platform based on liberalization of the Volstead law and the right of sovereign states to write their own dry laws within the boundaries prescribed by the eighteenth amendment.

The platform on which Governor Smith stood in signing the repeal bill will immediately be appropriated by the wets and made the basis of a new fight in the sixty-eighth congress next December. When that fight fails, as it most certainly will fail because of the still preponderant dry strength in house and senate, then the undaunted wets will carry it into the campaign of 1924, which not only elects an entirely new congress, but a president as well.

Bone of Contention
This was the picture drawn today by political leaders—two years at least, of intermittent fighting over the wet and dry issue in which not the eighteenth amendment but the Volstead law will be the bone of contention.

That Governor Smith will go to the Democratic convention next year as a candidate for the nomination with the backing of the "liberal" element was accepted here today as already assured. And that he will have a considerable amount of strength also is regarded as certain.

Old Issue Again
Not only does it place him definitely in the forefront of the "liberal" movement of the country as regards prohibition, but his statement also is designed to appeal (Continued on page 5)

GERMANY IN CIVIL WAR CLUTCHES, CLAM

Bulk of People Seem to Be Indifferent; Disorders Steadily Grow

By S. D. WEYER
For International News Service
Copyright, 1923

BERLIN, June 2.—Germany is drifting towards civil war, in the opinion of the most competent observers of today.

An almost fatalistic indifference has seized the bulk of the people. The feeling prevails that nothing can avert chaos from arising from the expected civil war of the Ruhr and Saxony with forty-five dead and 400 wounded appeared to be the forerunners.

Millions of Germans, especially those of the nationalist party, hope the crash will come soon so it may be over with and the suspense ended. Their mood is comparable with that of a man facing a critical operation who begs the doctors to hurry because the pain could not be worse than that already being suffered.

The fiasco of diplomatic efforts to settle the Ruhr problem combined with the plunge of the mark and red riots have reduced the government to a mere figurehead in the esteem of the people.

Cuno Loses Prestige
Chancellor Cuno, who a few months ago was enthusiastically acclaimed the man of the hour, has lost tremendously in prestige due to the fact that England sided with France in the last reparations note and the indifference of the United States. Hope had centered in Cuno because of his supposed "cordial relations" with America and England.

Nobody doubts if civil war comes it will be indescribably bloody and ruthless. The left is thoroughly prepared, as was shown in the Ruhr and Saxony, but the right also is ready and determined when "der tag" comes to throw everything into the scales in a final and supreme effort. They have nothing to lose. They will play the game of a gambler staking his last nickel on a wild chance of a "grand comeback."

Dance of Death
In the meanwhile, the mark's "dance of death" continues. In less than three months the American dollar has tripled in value, while prices for the third time in that period, have risen from 50 to 100 per cent. Profiteers are celebrating while the money printing presses are working overtime.

In the meantime the government, fearing another overthrow by the entente, is trying to ascertain what kind of an offer would be satisfactory. Great Britain and Italy, unwilling to allow even the appearance of disharmony with France are meeting all informal feelers and soundings with sphinxlike silence or ambiguous generalities.

That is the situation of this bankrupt, prostrate empire, staggered, (Continued on page 5)

MRS. MALLORY DEFEATED IN FINAL ROUND
CHESWICK, Eng., June 2.—Mrs. Molla B. Mallory, American woman tennis champion, was defeated in the final round of the Middlesex tournament by Miss Kitty McKane, leading English woman player, 6-3, 6-2. Mrs. Mallory failed to show the form which brought her to the final round.

BUSINESS SECTION OF CANAAN, N. H., BURNS
CANAAN, N. H., June 2.—Fire today destroyed the entire business section of Canaan and is now spreading to the residential district. Aid is being rushed from all neighborhood towns and cities. One man, the proprietor of a local store, is reported to have been burned to death when his establishment was destroyed. The business section of the city was reduced to ashes.

SOME FOREIGNERS RELEASED BY BANDIT'S
SHANGHAI, June 2.—Edward Elias, Shanghai broker; Theodore Saphiere, Shanghai business man, both British subjects; Manuel A. Vere, Mexican globe trotter, and Jerome A. Henley, of New York, American business man, were unconditionally released by the Shantung bandits who have held them prisoner for four weeks at 5 o'clock this morning. The four prisoners arrived in Lincheng after having been escorted half way by a bandit guard.

Bulletin

NEW YORK, June 2.—A new featherweight champion was crowned here this afternoon in the person of Eugene Criqui, French war veteran, and gentleman of France. He came into this honor through the medium of a terrific right hand punch that landed full on the aged jaw of Johnny Kilbane after one minute and four seconds of fighting in the sixth round. The American laid flat on his back and never got up. Referee Apple started a wholly unnecessary count and then, thinking better of it, motioned the weeping seconds of the fallen champion to assist him to his corner. The knockdown was as sudden as a bolt of lightning up to the time it arrived.

KIWANIS FROLIC AT COUNTRY CLUB

Chicken Dinner and Dance At Sunset Canyon Are Successful Affair

Kiwanians and their friends, to the number of about sixty-five, last night enjoyed a chicken dinner and a dance at the Sunset Canyon Country club.

Bachelors of the local club took pains to see that all present got acquainted and insisted upon a number of Paul Georges, cheat dances and other novelty dances.

Between the dances were interspersed entertainment numbers, all of which were applauded.

Herbert Henning of 1211 North Columbus avenue, who acted as accompanist and had charge of the orchestra, played two piano selections, "Rhapsody No. 6" by Liszt and "Coaxing the Ivories."

Miss Dorothy Dutton of Los Angeles interpreted a dance which was much admired. Because of her downy costume, which seemed to be made of feathers, it was called "The Whirlwind Dance."

Dressed in a little "solger" suit, Eleanor Marek, 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Marek of 207 West Garfield avenue, performed the El Capitan dance.

William G. Bode of 138 North Orange avenue, who had charge of the arrangements, played three saxophone solos, "Fond Recollections," "Marcheta" and "Farewell Blues."

Constance Talmadge Is Free From Husband

LOS ANGELES, June 2.—Constance Talmadge, screen star, was heart and fancy free today, her final decree of divorce from John I. Pialoglou, wealthy tobacco king of New York, having been entered in the records of the county clerk.

With the entering of the decree Miss Talmadge declared she was not engaged to marry anyone.

Fifteen Million Is Public Debt Slash
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 2.—A reduction of $15,400,000 in the country's public debt in May was announced by the treasury department today. The gross debt on June 1 was $22,630,229,000. The reduction was relatively small compared to preceding months because the general fund of the treasury was drawn upon more heavily than usual in new government financing.

Large Majority to Support Project, Shows Survey At Washington

WASHINGTON, June 2.—The reason for President Harding's decision not to press the issue of joining the world court is apparent—in the eyes of political experts here. The overwhelming support that the senate, as now composed, would give the plan if it were put to a vote today, is the reason, they assert.

A recent survey in which the publicly or privately expressed opinions of senators on the matter were tabulated indicates that, should the plan go to a vote now, approximately seventy-three senators would vote for it. Only nine would be expected to vote against it. The stand of thirteen senators is in doubt, but, it is pointed out, these uncertain members would not have any effect in the outcome of such a vote.

MARKET BUILDING SOLD BY DONWELL

Disposes of Realty On North Glendale Avenue, But Continues Business

David C. Donwell, owner of the Premium Market at 123 North Glendale avenue, has sold the building which houses his store for $30,000. The buyer comes from the east. Mr. Donwell will continue his rapidly-growing business, it is stated.

The market building was but recently completed by Mr. Donwell and is one of the substantial structures in that section of the city. He has established a fine business and his patrons will be glad to know that he will continue to serve them.

Wealthy Oil Man Is Identified as Crook

MUSKOGEE, Ok., June 2.—F. J. Hughes, millionaire oil man, of Eldorado, Ark., held here on bank swindling charges, is none other than Roy Churchill, internationally known as a society swindler, postoffice inspectors announced here today.

The announcement was made after fingerprints were received from Reno, Nev., and other places where Churchill had operated.

"Hughes," recently swindled a Tulsa, Ok., bank out of $6000.

CITY GROWTH RESULTS IN PLANS FOR INCREASED QUARTERS

Postal Officials Get Facts and Figures to Show More Room Need

GLENDALE gets a new postoffice! Such was the glad news received today by Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson, although he has been working on the project for weeks.

In less than one year this city has outgrown the facilities afforded them in the building specially contracted for with the Ralphs Company and today the postoffice inspector is calling for proposals for a new home.

Twelve thousand square feet of floor space is needed, as compared with the 5500 found in the present quarters. Fixtures valued at $15,000 are sought and an enlarged frontage is being asked, although there seems to be an error in specifications which says thirty feet of frontage instead of fifty feet.

Bids will be opened July 5 by H. B. Hall, postoffice inspector, with headquarters in San Francisco. Postmaster Jackson this morning wired him the advisability of obtaining increased frontage.

Comparative Figures
George Hallett, assistant postmaster, gives some comparative figures which reveal the reason for the early change in local postal quarters. The Glendale office now employs seventy clerks, carriers and officials, as compared with fifty one year ago when the present building was occupied.

Business increased proportionately. Mr. Hallett tells how the receipts have increased from $58,953.40 in 1922, when Glendale was a branch of the Los Angeles postoffice, to $151,339.69 in 1922, when the office came under the direction of an independent postmaster, Captain Jackson.

It is the belief of the postal officials that another grade will be made in the first class by the receipts this year. The first quarter showed $47,409.01 in receipts against $35,178.08 for the first quarter in 1922. This indicates that the year's total will go over the $200,000 mark and establish the new grade.

Hard to Believe
During the period of Glendale's terrific pace in adding population, principally commuters to Los Angeles, Postmaster Jackson has kept up a barrage of telegrams informing Washington and other officials of the needs of this office. It has been a tremendous task to make the staid easterners realize that such progress and prosperity as is found here today is a reality. At one time the growth of Glendale's postoffice almost became subject of an investigation, the figures seemed so unreal. Congressman Walter F. Lineberger has devoted a great deal of time, it is reported, in giving the department (Continued on page 5)

Japs, Spaniards File Liquor Ban Protests

WASHINGTON, June 2.—The Japanese and Spanish governments have filed additional protests with the state department over the supreme court ruling banning liquor on foreign ships in American ports, it was announced at the state department today.

Both countries had recently filed initial protests in common with Great Britain, France and Italy, and now have reinforced these with more detailed objections.

More Dry Agents to Enforce Law in N. Y.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Additional prohibition enforcement agents will be dispatched into New York state immediately as a result of the repeal of the New York state enforcement law. It was announced at prohibition headquarters here today.

How many agents will be sent was not divulged but it will be impossible to greatly increase the present force because of lack of funds, it was said.

A SOCIAL EVENT

Class Entertains

The banquet given last night by the members of the R. T. W. class of the First Baptist church in the observance of their annual "husbands' and escorts' night" proved to be one of the most enjoyable affairs given this year by the class.

The banquet room was artistically decorated in yellow and white with crepe paper and flowers carrying out the color scheme. The long banquet tables were also decorated in yellow and white. Covers were laid for 70.

Following the banquet, music and games were enjoyed and a contest between six teams selected to represent different colleges proved to be unusually amusing. The captains of the teams were Park Arnold, Roy Kent, George Bentley, A. J. Maxwell, J. L. Gray and Rene Olin. The winning team of which Park Arnold was captain was presented with a loving cup.

Special guests of the evening were Rev. and Mrs. E. E. Ford, Mrs. Jennie Dossie, teacher of the class, and Miss Beatrice Dossie.

Those in charge of the affair were Mesdames J. Roger Bentley, Roy Kent, Fred Abbey, E. Ostrander, H. W. Carver, Park Arnold and George Bentley.

Later in the evening plans were formulated for an entertainment to be given at the church on June 15 by the Sunshine Trio of Long Beach.

D. A. R. Breakfast

Honoring the memory of their organizing and life regent, Mrs. Mary Howard Gridley Braly, members of the Glendale General Chapter of the D. A. R. will gather next Monday morning at the Congregational church for their annual "white breakfast."

Mrs. Lyman Stockey of Los Angeles, state regent, will be honored guest and speaker and will preside over the installation of officers.

Breakfast will be served at 12:30 o'clock and opening the day's program there will be a tribute to Mrs. Braly by Miss Ida Myers.

Greetings have been received by the chapter from Pierson W. Banning, president of the California Sons of the Revolution, who was invited to the breakfast, but who will not be able to be present.

A personal message from Mr. Banning will be given Wednesday by Mrs. Martha Gale of 122 North Cedar street, whose mother, the late Mrs. Martha Morris, was a charter member of the Glendale chapter.

Surprise Affair

Mrs. W. H. Flynn of 331 E. Bonito street, very happily surprised Friday night when a group of friends came to help her celebrate her birthday anniversary. The surprise was planned by Mrs. Flynn's mother, Mrs. Helen Cummins.

The living room was most attractively decorated with Spring flowers, a large basket of purple iris and various colored candles being very effective. The dining room was in pink and green in keeping with the birthday cake with its pink and green candles and wreath of pink sweet peas.

Music and dancing were the diversions of the evening. Those complimenting Mrs. Flynn were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kemp, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Chambers, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kemp, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Guy Ransome, Miss Hulda Ransome, Grace Kemp, Stanley and Ted Kemp, all of Inglewood, Hershel Cummins, Mrs. Helen Cummins, W. H. Flynn and sons Billie and Dickie, of Glendale.

Receives W. C. T. U.

Yesterday afternoon, Mrs. S. A. Davis was hostess to the members of the W. C. T. U. at her home, 333 North Louise street. A number of members and their friends were present and a very pleasant afternoon was enjoyed.

Following the regular routine of business, a duet, "He Lifted Me," by Mrs. Marie Yoeman and Mrs. Billy Richards was greatly enjoyed.

Sidelights of the state convention recently held at Ventura were given by Mesdames Yoeman, Palmer, Richardson, Sipple and Smart.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Flora Lemon, 215 Belmont street, on June 15.

Curator Chosen

The non-section organization of the Tuesday Afternoon Club has now become a vital unit in the club life and yesterday the women of that section met at the clubhouse and elected Mrs. T. G. Widmeyer curator and Mrs. G. O. Piercey, secretary.

Plans were made for the serving of luncheons next week to the college women, the Kiwanians and to the drama section.

Another meeting of the non-section women will be held in two weeks and will be the final meeting of the year.

Club Will Sing

The Madrigal club will give a concert at the Presbyterian church, Tuesday evening, June 12, under the auspices of the Women's Society of the church. It is announced. A fine program will be presented under the direction of Mrs. C. A. Parker.

A rehearsal is called for Monday evening, June 11, at 7:30 o'clock at the church. Each member is asked to be present.

Informal Affair

Celebrating her birthday, Mrs. Clyde St. Clair, of 815 S. Mariposa avenue, entertained informally yesterday afternoon.

Her guests were Mesdames Fuelscher, Owens, Brandt, E. Fram and Pauline Dooze.

Lodge Election

Election of officers is the big attraction of the Carnation Rebekah meeting scheduled for next Tuesday night in the Odd Fellows' hall. Mrs. Loretta Schwitters, noble grand, will direct the meeting.

Children's Party

Winifred Melzer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stephen Melzer of 209 East Maple street, was most happily honored yesterday when her mother gave a jolly children's party in celebration of her sixth birthday.

A striking color scheme of red and white was chosen by Mrs. Melzer for the appointments for the birthday luncheon, served late in the afternoon after the children had enjoyed games and music.

American Beauty roses formed the centerpiece of the table, while at each place was a red favor basket containing bonbons. Before Winifred's place was a white birthday cake lighted by six red candles. Other cakes were fed in red and served with strawberry ice cream.

Mrs. Melzer was assisted by Mrs. Stephen D. Melzer and Mesdames George Howard, George H. King, William Masak and George Pierce.

Receives Gifts

A travel shower for Mrs. Freeman McG. Kelly, who is anticipating a trip to Australia, was given yesterday of the all day meeting of Chapter B. A. P. E. O., with Mrs. Claude Case of 343 North Maryland avenue.

Mrs. Arnold was in charge of the morning business session, and at the lunch hour Mrs. Case was assisted by Mesdames R. M. Brown and Bess Jones. It was at luncheon that Mrs. Kelley was showered with gifts for her trip.

In the afternoon Mrs. Cleveland of Santa Monica, appeared in a wonderful Japanese kimono over 100 years old, and gave reminiscences of her trip and travels through Japan. Her talk was illustrated with interesting curios and souvenirs.

Miss Joy Kingan also entertained with a group of vocal numbers.

For their final meeting of the year the chapter members will meet in two weeks with Mrs. Edith Arnold of 211 East Lomita avenue for a lawn party.

Special Guests

The meeting last night of Glendale Pythian Sisters in the K. P. hall on South Brand boulevard was an unusually interesting one because of the presence of a group of special guests.

Guest of honor was Mrs. Corinne Mitchell of Los Angeles, chosen grand honor guard of the state of California, at the recent state assembly at Santa Cruz. Other guests were Mrs. Alice Goodhue, of El Monte, past grand chief, and Mrs. Anna Wetherbee, of Los Angeles.

A special team from Los Angeles put on the lodge work.

The Sisters were interested in the report given by Mrs. Pauline Dooze of the Santa Cruz convention.

There were two applications for membership presented.

Plans are being made for a social affair, to be held in the next few weeks.

P. T. A. to Picnic

Plans have been completed for the picnic at Brookside Park of the Federation of Parent-Teacher Associations to be held on June 13.

The courtesy chairman of each Parent-Teacher association is in charge of means of transportation, and each association is to furnish potato salad and cake for their own members. Each member is to bring her own cup and saucer, knife, fork and spoon and sandwiches. The Federation will furnish coffee and ice cream.

After the picnic dinner, Mrs. Sheldon Bissel, president of the first district, will give a talk and Dr. Ernest Tucker of the Community Service Organization will lead the community singing.

A good time is anticipated and a large attendance expected.

Canadian Club

The Glendale Canadian Club which was organized on May 24, held a second meeting last evening at which time the election of officers took place. This is a social club organized for the purpose of getting together all Canadians living or visiting in Glendale. The meetings will be held every first and third Fridays of each month at 406 South Brand boulevard until permanent quarters can be obtained.

The officers elected last evening for the ensuing year are George P. Porter, president; Mrs. William J. Farbar, vice president; Mrs. M. E. Brode, secretary and treasurer.

War Mothers

The regular monthly meeting of the County Council of the Los Angeles County War Mothers' organizations will take place Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. W. Collin of 246 West Hawthorne street. Representatives will be present from Glendale, Los Angeles, Pasadena, Whittier and Long Beach.

Lodge Election

Election of officers is the big attraction of the Carnation Rebekah meeting scheduled for next Tuesday night in the Odd Fellows' hall. Mrs. Loretta Schwitters, noble grand, will direct the meeting.

Another feature will be the final report of the grand assembly by Mrs. Rozella Strothers, district deputy president.

Oldsmobile Eight Cylinder

Car Suited to Every

Motoring Need

No other car on the market at the Oldsmobile Light Eight price can compare with it in smooth running, power and endurance. In fact, there is no other eight-cylinder car at or near the Oldsmobile price. The endurance, the dependable performance, and the rugged power of the light eight have been described before. The results of these tests speak more eloquently than any other word that might be said in this respect.

The light eight is provided in a variety of body styles which provide for every motoring requirement. The touring car, sport roadster, and super-sport are ideal cars of the open type, fitted with every convenience and appointment for maximum motoring comfort and satisfaction. The closed models include the coupe and sedan, which represent the highest advancements in body design, construction, and finish.

The touring car is an ideal family car, with capacity for five passengers. It is equipped with a handsome, clear vision top and close fitting storm curtains. The upholstery is in finest Spanish leather of a rich brown shade.

The super-sport, for four, and the sport roadster for three, are the finest sport cars on the market. Completely equipped with bumpers, spot light, combination lighter, and parking light, clear double individual steps, double tire carrier and other conveniences, they are rightly the "smartest of smart cars." Both are finished in weathered bronze, a soft shade of green, and are equipped with steel disc wheels.

The coupe seats four passengers in real comfort. The interior is handsomely finished, with mohair-plush upholstery of pleasing shade. The steering wheel is of walnut, with walnut spokes, door handles and other metal parts have a satin silver finish, and every convenience is provided for driver and passengers.

The sedan is a handsome car, accommodating five passengers. Finish and interior appointments are in keeping with those of the coupe, making this a truly fine car and the source of pride and satisfaction to every owner.

All of these body types are mounted on the same famous chassis, and have the same wonderful engine which has successfully passed grueling tests. All of them are capable of the same performance through years of hardest usage.</

BREAKING LAWS AT SHOW, IS CHARGE

Ministers' Association Head Addresses Open Letter To Exposition

Rev. Louis Tinning, president of the Glendale Ministers' Association, this morning requested the Glendale Evening News to publish the following "Open letter to the management of the Glendale Industrial Exposition":

"Gentlemen—When your exposition was announced we who are loyal to Glendale approved. As time passed we learned of some features of which we could not approve. When the exposition opened we were astounded at some of the features which you permitted. The industrial displays and some of the concessions we heartily endorse. May I be permitted to call your attention to some features which have worked irreparable harm to the exposition and also to Glendale.

You entered into a contract which called for the exhibition to be open on the Sabbath day. You permitted a raffle or lottery to be carried before and during the exhibition and using the young people of our high school to dispose of the tickets for the same. You are permitting gaming devices to be used on the exposition grounds. You have done and are permitting these things to be done in spite of the protests of many citizens as good and loyal as yourselves.

Violation, Charged

"Permit me to call your attention to the fact that your raffle or lottery is in violation of the penal code of the state of California, sections 319, 320, 321 and 322. It is also in violation of ordinance No. 159, section 1, of the city of Glendale. The gaming devices are in violation of the penal code of the state of California, sections 330, 330a and 337. They are also a violation of ordinance No. 159, sections 2 and 3 of the city of Glendale.

"As the exposition is carried on it is an affront and an insult to law abiding citizens. It is a disgraceful and unlawful affair and a stench in the nostrils of every moral and law abiding citizen. It is repulsive to our people and violates the high ideals of the city of Glendale. Our appeal to you is to clean up and stay clean. In so doing you will merit and receive the support and cooperation of the entire community as you are not receiving at the present time.

"Yours for a better and cleaner Glendale.

"LOUIS TINNING,
"President Glendale Ministers' Association."

Committee Settling All Exposition Bills

Col. Jas. W. Everington, secretary of the exposition committee representing the Glendale Chamber of Commerce and the Glendale Merchants' Association, states that all accounts that are chargeable to the exposition are now being settled, and he is anxious that all who have bills against the project present them to the committee without any delay.

A. W. TOWER WELL EQUIPPED TRUSTEE

Highly Qualified to Take Place On Board of High School

When the Glendale High school ceased to be the Glendale Union High school by the recent annexation of Eagle Rock to Los Angeles, and became a 100 per cent Glendale institution, it was most fitting that a 100 per cent Glendale should be chosen to succeed the Eagle Rock member of the school board.

That 100 per cent Glendale was found in the person of A. W. Tower, of 214 East Park avenue, who is admirably qualified for the position and justly deserving of the citizens' confidence because of splendid education and wide experience and continued interest in school affairs.

A native of Tower, Indiana, Alphonso Welker Tower received his early education in the country schools and at the age of 16 began his experience in the teaching profession. After three years of teaching he entered the Academy of DePauw University at Greencastle, Indiana, and upon graduating he entered the university and graduated in 1903.

Teaches Boys' School
It was after graduating from the university that he came to Los Angeles and for a time taught in a boys' school. He discontinued this work to go north for a post-graduate course at the University of California at Berkeley, where, because of exceptional work he was elected to Sigma Xi, an honorary scholarly society.

Eighteen years ago Mr. and Mrs. Tower came to Glendale, where he became vice-principal of the Glendale Union High school. At the end of two years he left to accept the position of head of the science department of the Polytechnic High school in Los Angeles. He also served as vice principal of the night school. These positions he filled for thirteen years, resigning to go into the printing business.

Mr. Tower has made his home in Glendale for eighteen years and during that time he served for four years as a city trustee. During his term as chairman of the committee on public welfare and a member of the finance committee, the city manager form of government was introduced.

Mr. Tower's 100 per cent Glendale spirit is inspired by memberships in local Masonic orders, in the Chamber of Commerce and the First Methodist church.

He is keenly interested in the new high school and anticipates his share in administering its affairs.

Hayward and Mrs. Margaret Kaeding have made arrangements to have more tickets on sale at the booth tonight at 7 o'clock.

The drawing will take place tonight at 10 o'clock at the booth. It is not necessary to be present at the time of the drawing.

EXPOSITION HEAD VOICES THANKS

Director General Leavitt States His Appreciation For Support Given

As the Glendale Industrial Exposition draws to its close, H. L. Leavitt, the director general of the enterprise that has been staged under the auspices of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce and the Glendale Merchants' association, wishes to convey his thanks for and appreciation of the support given him by the citizens of Glendale in the task that he has been carrying on during the past four months that has been preparing here for the affair. Mr. Leavitt, in a statement made this morning, said:

"My thanks are due in the fullest measure to L. H. Wilson, chairman of the exposition committee of the two organizations sponsoring the affair; to Frank R. Pilling, Col. James W. Everington, secretary of the committee; to Mayor Spencer Robinson, Chief of Police J. D. Fraser, City Manager W. H. Reeves, Peter Diederich, of the city light and water department; to A. R. Eastman, the manager in which he has handled the funds of the exposition; to my attorney, Owen C. Emery, and to Miss Ruth Stokes, directress of the fashion show and one of the most capable girls with whom I have ever been associated in an event of this kind."

The manner in which the exposition is regarded by men who have been engaged all their lives in the show business is amply shown by the opinion expressed last night by J. W. Considine, of the Sullivan & Considine syndicate, who was here with Frank Pickering, manager of the Ocean Park pier. Mr. Considine declared that the Glendale Industrial Exposition was beyond question one of the most complete and well staged projects that he had ever seen in his entire experience, and in this he was supported by Mr. Pickering, another veteran showman.

Lots of Publicity
Glendale has secured an immense amount of publicity through the medium of the exposition, as is proven by the five immense scrapbooks full of complimentary references that have been collected from papers published in widely scattered sections of the country, much of which was carried over the wires of the great news gathering agencies of America.

"In an affair of this magnitude it is inevitable," declared Mr. Leavitt, "that there should arise at times differences of opinion and some slight friction, but none of the friction that has arisen in the present instance can be blamed on the director general's office or on any member of my staff, all of whom have sought to carry out their duties diplomatically and to prevent, as far as lay in their power, anyone from throwing a monkeywrench into the machinery of the exposition. In this I have had the closest co-operation of an excellent set of men in those I have named, and I would be perfectly willing to engage in any enterprise with these men again at any time, after the experience I have had of their executive ability and of their readiness to lend every possible assistance to keep the immense project running as smoothly as it did."

Mr. Leavitt has had several offers of other cities to stage similar expositions to that which he has just concluded here, but, until he has wound up the details of the present project, he will not decide what his next venture will be.

NEW SUBDIVISION SELLING RAPIDLY

Occidental College Heights Has Many Attractions For Home Seekers

"Tomorrow will be practically the last chance for Glendale people to buy in at Occidental College Heights," states C. C. Cooper, of the firm of Cooper & Barry, owners of and chief promoter lying right at the doors of Glendale.

"The lots are going even faster than we anticipated, and we knew they would be snapped up in record time—for we put the prices right when we opened the tract."

"Imagine lots at around $1200 and $1500, in the city of Los Angeles, two and one-half miles closer in than the city of Glendale, and served by a 5-cent car line! That's the reason our lots have sold so rapidly."

Ideal Location
Occidental College Heights, as Mr. Cooper points out, is a beautiful 111-acre tract of large view lots, located one block north of the junction of Glassell boulevard and Verdugo road.

The lots average 50x135 feet, and are from but 100 to 700 yards from the "E" line of the yellow cars, carrying residents of Occidental College Heights direct to the heart of Los Angeles for five cents.

"The beauty of the view is unexcelled," Mr. Cooper states, "and the climate is ideal, being free from smoke, fogs, haze and other annoyances."

"Here is a city of homesites, seated upon a hill, where a man and his family may live to the full each day of life, and where children may grow up happy and healthy, in comfortable, reasonably restricted surroundings."

It is so dry and rainless in northern Chile that practically no game can live there.

LOCAL VIOLINIST ENTERS CONTEST

Hazel Linkogel to Compete For Scholarship in Chicago, June 17

Miss Hazel Linkogel, Glendale's talented young violinist, is to leave Sunday, June 10, for Chicago, where she is to participate in a contest for a scholarship for study with Leopold Auer, master violinist.

The preliminary tryouts, in which young violinists from all parts of the United States will take part, will be held June 17. Following this the final contest will be on June 23.

Accompanying Miss Linkogel to Chicago will be her sister, Mrs. E. E. Gossrau, of Galveston, Tex. Miss Linkogel was recently honored at a scholarship benefit program given under the auspices of the Glendale Music club at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse. Such artists as Charles Wakefield Cadman, Margaret Messer Morris and Carl Gantvoort took part in the program.

Miss Linkogel is a member of the Junior Music club and is recognized throughout Southern California as a young musician of much promise.

Glendalians will await with interest reports from her appearance in Chicago.

Will Elect Queen of Exposition Tonight

The final count of the vote for queen of the exposition will be made at 11 o'clock tonight, in order to give the supporters of the various candidates every opportunity to register their votes in favor of their particular favorites. The Maxwell automobile will also be given away at the same hour, according to an announcement this morning by Director General H. L. Leavitt.

Tomorrow, the final day of the exposition, the sacred concert will be held in the evening and the tent will be open during the afternoon also, and on Monday the exhibitors will begin removing their displays and the Glendale Industrial Exposition will take its place as a matter of history.

Glendale now has a million dollars' worth of homes more than it had on April Fool's Day.

THE GLENDALE
Five acts of standard vaudeville are on the bill at the Glendale theatre today. In addition, "The Kingdom Within," a Hodkinson film, shows.

"The Last Moment," which opens Sunday at the Glendale theatre, is a striking and thrilling picturization of the idea that he who is in fear of his life, yet presses steadily forward without trepidation, is far more heroic than the man who "never knew fear."

There, amid frightful danger, a new terror suddenly confronts the baffled pair, in the form of "the thing," whose identity it would not do to describe.

How the young man wins out through sheer heroism, makes a splendid tale.

BETTER HOMES

June 4th WEEK to 10th

America is gradually becoming a nation of homes. Because of the success of the movement in which nearly 1000 cities and towns participated in last fall, a second demonstration has been set aside for the week of June 4 to 10. The idea is the outgrowth of a suggestion made by President Harding in 1921. As a part of this campaign communities everywhere prepare model homes and apartments to demonstrate what can be accomplished within a given income.

Indorsing this campaign, President Harding said: "I know of no matter so intimately concerned with the life of our people to which we can give greater devotion and service for fundamental improvement than the upbuilding not only of individual home ownership but the actual improvement of our homes." Every concern listed below is intensely interested in this campaign. All of them are ready to offer suggestions or ways and means by which to help make America a nation of better homes.

TUJUNGA POSTPONES SUIT TO CONDEMN SITE

Court to Hear Arguments in Storage Dam Case, Monday, June 11

The condemnation suit brought by the city of Los Angeles against the Hartnaff and Hansen land interest for the purpose of obtaining a site for a storage dam in the mouth of the Big Tujunga canyon has been postponed until June 11. Engineer Mulholland, testifying on the stand in Judge Leslie Hewitt's court, stated that the city had other sites that were as suitable for this project.

The city cannot condemn the land unless there is a strong necessity and the counsel for its defense pressed this point. City attorneys asked for a continuance of the case when Mr. Mulholland made this statement, that they might determine their position. The indications are that the city will withdraw its suit.

M. V. Hartnaff stated that a reversion in the Big Tujunga means millions of dollars to Los Angeles for every ten cents of location cost and if the city of Los Angeles does not build storage in the Big Tujunga, the town of Tujunga and adjacent territory will do it at no greatly distant date.

Parties to Suit Meet

Last week interested parties in the suit had lunch at the Cozy Cup Inn, Tujunga, and went over the land question. Judge Hewitt was in the party and the city engineer, William Mulholland, attorneys for both sides and representatives of the Tujunga Water & Power Company and others.

Mr. Mulholland threatens to abandon the project if the land values claimed are sustained by the court. Land owners are of the opinion that Mr. Mulholland filed the suit under the impression that the land was good for nothing but goat pasture, and doesn't realize that the surrounding territory has kept pace in values with the development of Los Angeles city.

Germany Near Civil War, It's Believed

Russia Is Active

Authoritative information in the hands of International News Service indicates Russia is determined to take an active hand, whatever happens in Germany. The viewpoint of the soviet government is the best policy. Russia does not want to take a chance until convinced Germany is ripe for communism. Unbiased observers are inclined to predict that while the reds may gain the upper hand and perhaps reign temporarily, their rule would be short-lived. Germany decidedly is not "ripe" for communism. Any chaos, no matter how bloody and terrible it might be, would not be economically comparable with Bolshevism in Russia. What faces Germany is not Bolshevism or the Russian group, but "Wolfism"—terrorizing from hunger and desperation.

EAGLE ROCK STAR CLEAN-UP FOR EAGLE ROCK

Vacant Lots and Yards Will Be Cleared of Fire Hazards and Trash

"Clean-Up Week" began bright and early this morning, backed by the Los Angeles Fire Department and sponsored by such local organizations as the Chamber of Commerce, Realty Board, Improvement Association, Parent-Teacher Association, Clean Government League, American Legion and Boy Scouts.

This plan, which will free the section of unsightly yards and lots, and greatly reduce the fire hazard, originated with Eagle Rock's fire department and is having their active co-operation. The section has been districted and fires will be lit in but one district at a time. Thus, in case of emergency, the fire department will not be extinguishing a blaze in one district when needed in another for any purpose.

The department and all civic organizations sponsoring the movement urge citizens of the district to get squarely back of this thing and see that it is done and done properly. It is essential to the security of the district that it be done, so the best thing to do is to make a quick and thorough job of it, they feel.

In many cities, it is pointed out, the charge for such services runs to $5 and more per lot, whereas in Eagle Rock it is gratis. The fire department, police department, and others are willing to do everything in their power to help in the matter but it is the people, in the last analysis, who must get the spirit of the thing and carry it through.

In the event that, after a reasonable time—a week or more—is given and fails to produce the removal of grasses, rubbish and other fire hazards from Eagle Rock property, it is pointed out that the police department of the city of Los Angeles can compel such action, under sections 1 to 5, inclusive, of ordinance N. 19,533, new series, which sections have to do with the abatement from premises of public nuisances.

It is believed by the Eagle Rock police department that no such action will be necessary, as there seems to be a decided spirit of co-operation existing between property owners and the fire and police departments, in this matter of rubbish burning.

Some Suggestions
If there is grass growing about your fence or house, it should be cut away for a space of four to six feet to provide a fire break. This same precaution should be taken with trees. If there are a number of trees closely planted, it would be far better to cut the grass and have it piled in an open space for burning.

If there is any burnable rubbish in close proximity to a structure of any kind, or fence, it should be moved into the center of a vacant lot to be burned—but only by consent of the fire department.

Each home should have at least two water-caked gany sacks to be used in case a grass fire should start close in.

Keep all available garden hose attached to the hydrant at all times.

If a fire should be sweeping toward your property and you have the necessary fire break provided, then you should back-fire by starting a fire along your own property line.

The hours for burning rubbish are from 6 to 9 o'clock in the morning and then only in an incinerator. For this you do not need a permit.

The hours for burning grass are from 6 o'clock in the morning to 3 o'clock in the afternoon in Eagle Rock city only, and then only by express permission of the fire department.

Don't dump rubbish into a small area surrounded by grass and set fire to it. The authorities may see fit to prosecute for contributory negligence such persons as are responsible for damages under these conditions.

Don't spend any time worrying over the ownership of a piece of property that is overgrown with grass. The thing to do is eliminate it as a fire hazard. This is the "homeland" way of doing.

Don't wait to find the telephone number of the fire department to report a fire. Merely tell the operator that you want the fire department, and when connection is made, clearly tell the person to whom you are speaking the location of fire. If you give the location as two intersecting streets go promptly to that spot and wait the coming of the fire department.

Have Saturday afternoon off? Plant dahlias for "her"—and for Eagle Rock!

Food shortage in northern Russia is reported to be no longer serious.

Call for Bids On Postoffice Building

It is hoped by Inspector Hall and others that the builder getting the lease contract for Glendale's new postoffice will build for the future. While the specifications today set forth only the actual needs, it is expected that another year will find the office seeking more room. So, when you read the following request for proposals, give plenty of latitude to the site.

"The undersigned will receive sealed proposals up to and including July 5, 1923, for furnishing suitable quarters for postoffice purposes at Glendale, California, at a stated price per annum, including water, toilet facilities, safe or vault, and all necessary furniture and equipment, under lease for five or ten years from date to occupancy."

"Enlarged quarters which cannot be secured at the present location, have become necessary on account of the greatly increased postal business at Glendale and a site sufficiently large to permit further expansion, would be advisable."

"A frontage of thirty feet with an 'L' in the rear, to give up the floor space required, would be considered. The necessary furniture and equipment the lessor must install, will cost in the neighborhood of $15,000."

"Floor space of not less than 12,000 square feet is desired, and good daylight and a reasonable central location are important considerations."

"Blank proposals and further information may be obtained from the postmaster and a sample form of lease may be examined in his office. Diagrams of the rooms offered should be submitted, showing dimensions, offsets, doors, windows, etc., together with streets and alleys that form a boundary."

"The postoffice department reserves the right to reject any and all proposals."

Plans for receiving at a more formal housewarming are being discussed by the Shriners.

Presidents of P. T. A. Called to Meeting

Fifty-six routes will be started by the Czechoslovak State Automobile Transportation service this year.

Dry Law Issue In Political Campaign

Officials And Their Pelf

Pessimism Vs. Optimism Getting Back To Home
By Gil A. Cowan

RELEASE of the foreign nationals held by the Chinese bandits is practically assured, and the great commotion over China will sink into insignificance.

In fact, the whole business lost its flavor as soon as the scions of the Rockefeller and Scripps families were reported safe. The fact that several others were held—even enjoyably so—gave no cause for the great anxiety first felt.

Of course, the United States government in its methodical way sought to bring about the release of its nationals and no criticism is voiced against the diplomats far afield. But, right here at home, where politics and influence are more keenly felt, we can see things in their true light.

Too many public officials wait for the whip to crack before snapping into action. That is true, principally of our elective and high appointive offices. It is not true in the smaller political subdivisions, where personal contact and criticism may be immediately felt like the jab of a pin.

No czar could sit on a throne more substantially than a federal official, from a revenue collector on up to a cabinet member. Yet they are so limited in duty and action, as a general rule, that they must smile at the world of power which it is presumed they have.

Indeed, a certain antipathy develops in official circles toward those who exhibit pomp and pelf. And we glory to see a real democratic individual, be he Republican or Democrat by affiliation, hold position.

Yet it is a peculiar thing that some brilliant minds fail to recognize leadership in a man who does not pose as a king or a czar. They want high collars, dress suits, supercilious bearing or nothing at all.

A hail fellow, well met, does not fit into the general scheme of affairs, as our high brow friends have it. No, indeed; he must be an actor in the public eye. And it is all for naught, except vain pride.

Some of the most beloved persons in our remembrance were to be found in their shirt sleeves, hard at work, usually unshaven, but clean of mind and body and clear of eye, thinking out their own problems and making the most of small opportunity.

They are the class who are unsung. They are not necessarily the laborers of the street, nor the toilers of the mill, for some mighty big men have been known to get down to business by clearing away all the useless junk in which a fickle public would have them accoutered.

A notable example of this was a New York managing editor, who took off coat, vest, collar and shirt and let his suspenders slump while he dug into the mass of work before him. Some of the hardest-hitting warriors of the world war were often mistaken for the lowliest of private soldiers. For they were after results, not words of praise.

Whenever you feel pessimistic, folks, try to convince an optimist that the world's all wrong. You will find that some people have unbounded faith in human nature. And it is good that they have or this would be a terribly drear world in which to live.

Conan Doyle is a high-class pessimist. He predicts dire things for this universe in the next five years. The author of the Sherlock Holmes stories has a right to be pessimistic. No one agrees with him, to speak of. But we do read what he has to say, because it is so different.

It takes a catastrophe to reveal real optimism. People fighting forest fires in Michigan have no time to worry as to what will happen five years hence. They are too pre-occupied with their present conditions. So only a smile is tolerated.

With the Glendale Industrial Exposition brought to a close this week-end the business life of the city will return to normal. Normal here, however, means bigger trade, increased stocks, constant growth to keep pace with the community.

The new Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital plant is a striking example of growth of its kind; the H. S. Webb company store marks another step in the field of modern merchandising; and so on it goes.

"Better Homes" is the latest war cry. A great national campaign is now under way to re-establish the home in the minds of the public. During the war everyone seemingly forgot home and now we find it is best to remember it.

Trust to the real estate men to remind us of it, but if there were ever missionaries in our midst in disguise it is the conscientious real estate man who tries to plant you in a home of your own.

AUTO COLLISION

A collision occurred about 6 o'clock this morning at the intersection of Colorado street and Pacific avenue between a truck driven by Albert E. Peterson of 118 North Orange street and a passenger car driven by B. B. Ownby of Pomona. The truck has one of its front headlights broken and a front fender bent. The other car had the doors on one side damaged.

During the eclipse of 1878 the "halo" extended nearly 10,000,000 miles from the sun.

romance between Alberta Meadows and me and the world shall know the facts, dates and places. I will show that my wife would have been justified in invoking the unwritten law, though I deny that my wife is guilty of the actual murder."

Phillips was asked why he did not tell his story at the trial. "I wanted to testify," he said, "but Bert Herrington, my wife's attorney, would not permit me to take the stand. Herrington said he would not let me trample on the grave of a dead girl."

Conflicting Stories
Phillips was then questioned on the statement he was reported to have made to Under Sheriff Biscailuz when he informed the sheriff's office that his wife had killed Mrs. Meadows and was en route to El Paso to flee into Mexico. The remark Phillips attributed to Mrs. Phillips was this:

"I have killed the woman you loved and now I am going to cook you the finest meal you ever ate."

"I did not tell that to Mr. Biscailuz," Phillips replied to the correspondent's question.

Under Sheriff Biscailuz was asked today to comment on Phillips' denial. "Phillips made that statement to me in the presence of Attorney John Hans of Los Angeles and was repeated later by him in the presence of two deputy sheriffs. Phillips has never before denied the statement. It was printed in all of the Los Angeles papers at the time we arrested Mrs. Phillips."

Phillips Talks Freely
Phillips had volunteered to talk freely and suggested that any questions in the correspondent's mind be asked him.

"Didn't Mrs. Phillips tell you when she came home that Alberta Meadows was dead?" Phillips was asked.

"No," she didn't say she was dead," Phillips replied. "She merely said something had happened to Mrs. Meadows."

KIWANIANS SEEK ANSWER TO NAME

What Does It Mean? That Is Question Both Merry And Mysterious

Kiwanis—what does it mean and why? Is it an Indian name? If so, what Indian and was he a good Indian and how much? These questions were brought out in the banquet room of the Tuesday Afternoon Clubhouse yesterday noon at the weekly luncheon of the Glendale Kiwanis Club.

An inquiry was made by "Bill" Bode of 138 North Orange avenue and referred to Normal C. Hayhurst of 341 Oak street, chairman of the education committee. He denied that it is the function of this committee to divulge information, but asserted that it was rather its purpose to find out how little the other knew.

Burton McGinnis of 142 South Brand boulevard then took the floor and stated positively that it was an Indian name and meant "honest traitors." Bert Perry of 1619 South Glendale avenue then arose and denied that it was an Indian name. He was followed by Dr. "Jack" Anderson of 104 West California avenue, who facetiously remarked that the name undoubtedly came through the Indian from the Sanskrit and should be pronounced "Key-wah-nah-his."

Question Unanswered
Dr. T. C. Young of 620 East Broadway then intimated that the derivation of the name should be known to all charter members of the club.

A motion was then passed instructing Mr. Hayhurst to communicate with national headquarters at Chicago and obtain definite information. The question still remains: Is it or is it not an Indian name.

One of the first songs led by "Ollie" W. Anderson of 380 Myrtle street was "Juanita." This matched the picture of "The Old Mill Stream" on the fans distributed as silent boosts by Emil O. Kiefer, member of the firm of Kiefer and Eyerick.

"Lil Liza Jane" was sung in the middle of the program with "Herb" Henning of 1211 North Columbus avenue. Col. J. D. Fraser of 643 North Maryland avenue got along fine with the tenor but almost choked during the requests for an encore.

A few remarks in regard to the sublime beauty of the local June nights was made by Dr. Jack Anderson, who was given "the horse laugh."

EDUCATORS HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

School Trustees Assemble at Southern Branch of University

The annual convention of school trustees is being held today in Millsap Hall of the Southern Branch of the University of California.

Glendale is represented by Mrs. Nettie C. Brown of 201 Milford street, member of the Grammar School Board of Education; Richardson D. White, superintendent of the city school system; Dr. H. V. Brown, member of the High School Board of Trustees, and George U. Moysa, principal of Glendale Union High school.

"Every school board is required by law to send one delegate," said Mark Keppel, county superintendent of schools, in the official call. "All trustees and other friends of education are invited to attend the convention."

Among the topics being discussed are: "School Budgets and Budget Making," "Teachers and Their Tenure," "The County Free Library and the Public School," "The Attendance Problem," "Transportation" and "The Crisis in Education."

Library Officials to Attend Convention
Mrs. Alma J. Danford, librarian at the Public Library, and Miss Laura Roberts of her staff, left last night for Yosemite Valley, where they will be in attendance next week at the annual state convention of California Librarians.

Of interest to local patrons is the news that Miss Dorothy E. Rich, formerly on the library staff, has received a scholarship at the Southern Branch of the University of California. She was chosen from among ten young women.

Crowning Event Of Successful Merchandising For H. S. Webb Who Moves His Business Into Home Of Its Own On North Brand Blvd.

THE crowning event of the business career of a merchant is when he realizes his dream of years in the building of a store home, to accommodate his successful business founded on years of sacrifice, earnest work and wide experience. Sharing with the merchant in the success and happiness of his attainment are his patrons and friends in the city in which he pioneered in business and took an active part in every movement for civic expansion and growth.

H. S. WEBB

Mr. Webb is head of the H. S. Webb & Company and is one of the best known Glendale business men. He takes an active part in civic organizations.

Happy combination of the artistic and practical is noted in every part and department of the new store, and the visitor is immediately impressed with the rich simplicity which will undoubtedly characterize the new Webb store as "The Homey Store."

Entering through the attractive terra cotta tile entrance on Brand boulevard, the visitor stands viewing the attractive expanse of the first floor and mezzanine balcony. The vast floor space is hardwood, while all the woodwork is of elegant southern gum, wonderfully finished. Wide aisles, providing ample room for promenading and shopping, separate the various departments.

Confidence of Public
Mr. Webb is one of Glendale's pioneer merchants, in whom old and new residents have the utmost confidence, and for whom they have the highest regard and heartiest good wishes.

It was six years ago that Mr. Webb entered the business field of Glendale, and it has been his fortune to participate actively in six of the most progressive years in the city's history. Mr. Webb has seen Glendale transformed from a town into a modern city, and it was his appreciation of this change that inspired him with the desire to build a store that would adequately and perfectly serve the city's residents.

After dreaming for six years of the modern store that he would one day build in and for Glendale, Mr. Webb enlisted the aid of Alfred F. Priest, architect, and through his artistic ability and technical skill the new Webb store, which opens Monday evening, stands as a perfect piece of architecture, and a modernly furnished and equipped trading center of which Glendale may justly be proud.

Efficient Service
Quality and satisfaction have always combined in making Webb store service of highest appreciation, and in the new store with the enlargement of lines of stock, the modern, artistic background, addition of departments and increasing of the staff, Mr. Webb is greeting his countless patrons and friends with the same splendid spirit of service.

One of Mr. Webb's chief aims is to make trading in Glendale a real pleasure and satisfaction to Glendaleans, and with this in view his prices always compare favorably with those prevailing in Los Angeles, and in many instances Webb prices are lower.

catered to in the beauty parlor, in charge of expert operators, qualified to handle all types of beauty work.

A passenger elevator is provided to carry shoppers from the first floor to the mezzanine or to the second floor.

On Second Floor
The second floor presents a picture of richness and quiet dignity. African mahogany has been used throughout. Its wonderful grain and finish being enhanced by the equally rich, heavy gray carpet covering the entire floor space.

On the second floor there are found the offices for business administration, and departments for coats, suits, dresses, skirts, corsets, silk and muslin underwear, art goods, sweaters, millinery, all outer garments and infants' wear.

Of interest to the Webb store patrons will be the care taken in the lighting provisions of the new building. Special day lighting will be directly from a skylight system, while the artificial lighting was chosen from lights that provide a light that as nearly approximates daylight as possible. This splendid lighting is invaluable to satisfactory shopping and is as necessary to successful business as perfect acoustic properties are in an auditorium for dramatic and musical work.

Air-Cooling System
Ventilation is provided by a modern air-cooling system, while a strictly modern heating plant is installed for use during cold weather.

Other important features are the large basement for storage purposes and also providing room for a basement store at some time in the future; the freight elevator serving all floors; and the wonderful window space, seventeen feet in depth and fourteen feet in height, offering ideal space for the artistic showing of stock.

Inspiring activities at this new trading center of Glendale is H. S. Webb, owner, formerly a business man in Chicago, Ill. Mr. Webb said:

"I am very happy to receive patrons and friends in our new home. I have been in Glendale six years and have seen the city to the height of its growth and

PRESENT PUPILS IN TONE PAGEANT

Music Students Will Trace Development of Art at Recital

Before the arrival of the summer vacation season, Mrs. Pearl G. Curran, pianist, and her sister, Miss Hazel Linkogel, violinist, of 214 East Chestnut street, are to present their music pupils in "A Tone Pageant," Saturday night, June 9, in the auditorium of the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse. They arrange such an event each year and this year the proceeds are to go to the piano fund of the Music Section of the Tuesday Afternoon club.

The program is arranged to trace the development of music and the work of the pupils will be inspired by the originality and talent of the teachers.

Miss Linkogel's pupils will play the "Toy Symphony" by Haydn, assisted by five musicians from the high school.

Mrs. Curran's pupils will appear in brilliant costumes for their parts in the program.

Features of the program will be vocal solos by Mayor Spencer Robinson and Mrs. Helen Graham Cole, and violin selections by Miss Linkogel.

Young Bride of Aged Judge Fights Arrest

FIGURES REVEAL GROWTH OF CITY

Installations of Light and Water Meters Show Steady Advance

Glendale's population continues to increase, according to the records of the public service department. During the month just closed 103 water and 194 light meters were installed, as compared with 99 water and 184 electric meters connected during April. There are now over 8999 water and 10,273 light meters in service.

"May was a good average month," says James F. McIntyre, commercial agent for this municipal department. "The installations indicate that the city is still growing."

As indications that this month will be most active, a large number of applications for service were received yesterday.

Sun Still Good for Million Years' Duty

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Old Sol is good for 1,000,000 more years in spite of a 3 per cent loss of heat in the last eighteen months, Dr. C. G. Abbott, expert government astronomer at the Smithsonian Institute, has declared. He denied reports that the sun might take a vacation.

"Solar radiation, or the heat given off by the sun, is known to fluctuate," said Abbott.

"I anticipate in the coming months and years that the heat output will slightly increase and no doubt will reach normal or go higher."

Homes and Farms Are Inundated in Canada

VANCOUVER, B. C., June 2.—Residential and farm properties at Calgary are inundated and several small bridges are in danger of being washed out, as waters of the Elbow river continue to rise, according to reports received here. The river has become a torrent, due to heavy rains, and is expected to reach the high mark of the 1915 floods. No lives have been lost but property damage will likely be heavy, reports indicated.

Emery-Webb Building, Costing More Than $60,000, Attractive, Distinctive And Is Equipped For Modern Department Store

—Alfred F. Priest, Architect.

This picture shows the Emery-Webb building, at 139 North Brand boulevard. It contains the H. S. Webb & Company Department Store. The building, erected by Elmer E. Elliott, of Glendale, is one of the most attractive of its class in the Southland and a great asset to the business district of this city.

The Emery-Webb building, at 139 North Brand boulevard, new home of H. S. Webb & Company, dry goods merchants, is a two-story, basement and mezzanine structure, 50 by 140 feet, on a lot 50 by 150 feet, representing an investment in excess of $60,000.

The front, of Italian renaissance style, carries an attractive design in buff and blue ornamental terra-cotta, surmounted by a large, striped grey and blue awning, said by its manufacturer, W. T. Gilliam, to be the largest awning ever installed in Glendale.

Another exterior feature of the building is the display offered by two large plate glass windows, seventeen feet deep and fourteen feet high, creating an appearance of distinction that Mr. Webb states cannot be duplicated anywhere in southern California.

A local architect is responsible for the architectural plans of the Emery-Webb building and worked out with Mr. Webb many of the unique features incorporated.

Basement Store

One of these features is a fully equipped basement store, such as is conducted in the great metropolitan department stores. This basement is ventilated with a special up-to-the-minute system and is connected with the first floor, mezzanine and second floor by a passenger elevator.

The furnishings and fixtures are in mahogany throughout, especially designed and embodying literally hundreds of modern and advanced features for the customers' convenience and productive of efficiency and ease in showing merchandise.

On the mezzanine floor, where the administrative offices are located, many novel features are located, which are described in detail elsewhere in this edition of The Glendale Evening News.

Prominent Builder

The building was erected by Elmer E. Elliott, a well known local builder, responsible for the erection of the Tuesday afternoon club house, Lawson building and other prominent structures in this city. The building was begun by Mr. Elliott around the first of the Vision of Local Merchant Becomes Reality in His Attractive Store

Elmer E. Elliott, builder of the Emery-Webb building, 139 North Brand boulevard, is one of the best known and most successful builders in Glendale, where he has resided since 1910.

It was Mr. Elliott who built the Columbus Avenue school, the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, the castle apartments on North Brand boulevard, and many other prominent structures, large and small, in this city and elsewhere in the vicinity of Los Angeles.

The Emery-Webb building, now occupied by H. S. Webb & Company, dry goods merchants, was built by Mr. Elliott at a cost in excess of $60,000. The total cost of the Lawson building, now being erected by Mr. Elliott at the southwest corner of Brand and Wilson, will be in the neighborhood of $170,000. The building is four stories high and one of the finest structures in Glendale.

Other Structures
Mr. Elliott has several other buildings either under way or soon to start, among them a brick at Colorado and Adams, being erected for M. Khodigian, at a cost of $27,000, and consisting of stores and apartments; the Anderson-Supper Ford-Lincoln agency at Parr Heights, at cost $14,000; a 14,000 apartment at 110 East Chestnut street; a two-family flat at the corner of Pacific and Riverdale, at cost $6400; and two two-family flats in Hollywood, at $5000 each.

Elmer E. Elliott represents the second generation of builders, that having been his father's profession before him. The elder Elliott was a contractor in Delaware, where he put up many fine buildings.

During the recent war, young Elliott went east, where he took a position in Philadelphia as a member of the Empire Engineering company, gaining much valuable experience in large enterprises.

Returning to Glendale at the close of the war, he went into the building business and has continued in it with consistent success.

GIANT AWNING IS UNIQUE FEATURE

T. Gilliam Describes New Style Used by Webb
Dry Goods Store

The Webb-Emery building, 139 North Brand boulevard, new home of H. S. Webb & Company, dry goods merchants, has among other distinctions that of possessing one of the finest awnings in Southern California.

This statement is made by W. T. Gilliam, 210 East Broadway, who made the awning, a giant affair of beautiful combination blue and gray stripes, measuring forty feet long, with a nine-foot extension.

"The awning is of the roller type," states Mr. Gilliam, "is semi-permanent and winds with a single windlass."

"It is the largest awning ever put up in Glendale and has many unique features. The bars that control the swing over the sidewalk were especially made."

Business Grows

This is one of the many fine things Mr. Gilliam is making for Glendale merchants and residents, owing to his thorough knowledge of the business and his ability to inspire confidence in prospective customers. Mr. Gilliam's success in the few months he has been in this city has been remarkable. Starting with two employees, he now has a payroll of five and is busy at all times.

Mr. Gilliam wants to thank the people of Glendale for their gratifying patronage and wishes to state that he is doing a great deal of awning work on private homes as well as business shops. He says that some of his new Egyptian designs are so attractive and economical that anyone contemplating the installation of awnings should call at his office and ask them over.

WEBB'S FURNISHING STORE TO REMAIN

H. S. Webb Department Will Stay at Its Location,
103 South Brand

The binding link between the old and new locations of the H. S. Webb Company, will be that the company's furnishings department of a company will remain at the old location, 103 South Brand boulevard.

This department has so developed that a separate store building is almost necessary and with any contemplated improvements and additions it is destined to become one of the most exclusive men's shops in Glendale.

Mr. Doran is to serve as manager and, while separated from the main store by almost a block, its management will be directly in charge of H. S. Webb and his assistants.

ment, has had years of experience along this line of work.
D. L. Ludwig, who needs no introduction to Glendaleans, as an experienced, reliable and clever advertising manager. Mr. Ludwig has had fifteen years' experience in his work, and Mr. Webb is being complimented on securing him to head the advertising and display departments. It is Mr. Ludwig's aim to hold faith with the public to the extent of always adhering to the slogan of "Truthful advertising," which in the case of the Webb store is always backed up by reliable merchandise.

Widely Experienced
Miss Cherry, as head of the infants' department, has had twelve years of experience with Meyer & Frank of Portland, Ore., the largest department store on the Pacific coast. Miss Cherry has made a thorough study of her line and is well known for her success.

Miss Florence L. Irish, for seventeen years buyer and manager for the J. W. Robinson Company of Los Angeles, is to have charge of teaching needlework, crocheting, knitting, lamp shades and other art work.

Mrs. A. B. Hoffstadt, who comes from Culbertson, Grove, Rankin Company of Spokane, Wash., will have charge as buyer in ribbons and laces.

Mrs. Stewart will preside over the notion department.
Mrs. Valerious, who has been in charge of the hosiery department for over two years, will continue in this capacity.

Mrs. Williams, also connected with the store, will continue in charge of gloves, neckwear and handkerchiefs.

Mrs. Bennett, who has built the underwear department up to one of the best in the store, will preside over this department.

Miss Buffkin, another valuable employee of the Webb store, will continue as head of the corset department in the new store.
Mrs. Baxter will continue to serve as expert buyer and supervisor.

Department Heads

Fred Gilleland, who has been for two years buyer of the dress goods, silks, ginghams and domestics, is another valuable assistant Mr. Webb takes with him to the new store.

Mr. Hutchinson, who was for eleven years buyer in the drapery department of the Broadway Department Store in Los Angeles, will have charge of the Webb drapery department.

Julius Peterson, who has been with Webb's for about four years, will preside as floor manager over the first floor.

Of particular interest to Glendale people is the announcement that Charles Hatz has been secured by Mr. Webb to manage the ready-to-wear departments. Mr. Hatz is anticipating daily shipments from New York, and in the wonderful setting of the new Webb store he is offered a wonderful opportunity to arrange exceptional displays.

Mr. Pitcher, formerly with Marshall Field of Chicago and Hamburger's of Los Angeles, will be in charge of the millinery department.

Mr. Holland, formerly buyer of leather goods and jewelry at the Broadway Department Store, will direct these two departments.

Mr. Brotherton, who will manage the shoe department, has had wide experience in Los Angeles and Hollywood.

Mr. Fiske will be in charge of toilet goods and kodak supplies.

year and was turned over to Mr. Webb Saturday, May 26, when cabinets and other incidental fixtures, together with furniture, were installed.

Mr. Elliott states that the following are among the sub-contractors to whom credit for specific work is due: H. E. Betz, brick work; Glendale Hardwood Flooring Co., floors; Jesse Stine, plaster; Bentley Lumber Co., lumber, plaster and cement; Coker & Taylor, plumbing; T. S. If Progress has been the slogan of Glendale—it also has been the dominating spirit of the mercantile interests. And in the upbuilding of this modern Department Store it is the good people of Glendale who are responsible and make possible this institution. In it we have exemplification of our great progress and to you we dedicate it.

The Modern Store

This modern Department Store is more than the fulfillment of a merchant's dream. It's the fruition of many years of effort. It has taken time, pains and money. Everyone who has had anything to do with the enterprise has given the best in either him or her, and when the store doors swing open Monday you will behold a store which, in point of luxurious appointments, has few equals but no superiors in this community.

The H. S. Webb & Co. takes pride in serving you as of old, and will always endeavor to deserve success by constantly increasing the store's power to do good.

The New Building

Now we open on Monday night, June 4th, the new store for your inspection and profit, feeling confident that we have done all that could be done by the ingenuity of man to give you a trading center that will do credit to Glendale progress. In putting up this building we have simply considered ourselves as your agent, thinking always of what you would like, and endeavoring to carry out that thought to the fullest extent, and in buying merchandise for the new store we have bought for you. Your individual wants have had consideration and we have tried to act in the great markets of the world as your shopping commissioners.

Main Floor Departments

On entering the store you will be impressed with the appearance of solidity. Decorations are simple, and yet in good taste—entirely for service. Fixtures all in southern gumwood. Rich in appearance, but quite in keeping with the merchandise displayed in each department. Aisles are wide and give plenty of room for promenading and shopping. Daylight permeates to every corner of the floor, and for night lighting we have installed the newest type of overhead illumination that could be found in America. On this floor are located these departments: Silks, Woolens, Wash Goods, Domestics, Laces, Trimmings, Ribbons, Women's Wear, Toilet Goods, Jewelry, Leather Goods, Hosiery, Underwear, Gloves, Notions, Umbrellas, Draperies, Stationery and Women's and Children's Shoes.

Elevator for your convenience to Mezzanine and second floor.

The Mezzanine Floor

The Mezzanine Floor will be one of the most attractive sections of the entire store. Here we have provided rest and lounging room accommodations larger in extent than found in most places. Ample lavatory and toilet accommodations. Richly furnished, and with a floor covering of rich grey carpet.

Complete Beauty Parlor on the Mezzanine Floor in charge of the most expert operators, easily reached by elevator or stairway.

Circulating Library—A wonderful place for those interested in reading. Wide selection of books.

GOVERNMENT POST OFFICE SUB-STATION.

Second Floor Ready-to-Wear and Millinery

These departments are ideally housed in magnificent quarters on the Second Floor and possess the double advantage of plenty of daylight and complete cleanliness. In the decorations of this floor, simplicity and harmony of color produce that artistic effect that is most pleasing, and possesses quiet dignity. The carpets are grey plush and the fixtures African Mahogany in classic designs of tone and snap. On this floor we will handle: Coats, Suits, Dresses, Waists, Skirts, Corsets, Silk and Muslin Underwear, Art Goods, Sweaters, Millinery, in fact all outer garments for women; also Infants' Wear that will appeal to every woman's heart.

KILBANE TAKING ON TOUGH BOXER

Fight Experts Claim Criqui Is Dangerous Enemy For U. S. Veteran

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service
NEW YORK, June 2.—Casting a hint of honest doubt on an issue that was supposed to be fore-ordained, such eminent minds as Johnny Coulon and Philadelphia Jack O'Brien today declined to string along with the common impression that Johnny Kilbane is certain to knock Eugene Criqui upside down at the Polo grounds today. They granted that Kilbane is a marvel of speed and hitting ability. They granted that, all going well, Kilbane should win, but neither would concede that Criqui is the push-over that prevalent opinion would have him.

"He is fast, a good socker and very cagey," declared Coulon, who has seen the French challenger in action many times. "The funny thing about Criqui is that he has become very rugged and tough within the last two years. Pal Moore did not knock him out in spite of the records. The Frenchman was hit low and could not continue, but the referee refused to allow a claim of foul."

Criqui Is Dangerous
Of course, Criqui is easy to hit and Kilbane, in addition to his speed, is the cleanest hitter in the game today, with the possible exception of Benny Leonard. But there is no getting around the fact that Criqui is an extremely dangerous puncher and very foxy in the ring. It ought to be a great fight.

Coulon was asked whether the false teeth the Frenchman is forced to use did not militate against punch absorbing, and he conceded that this was not at all unlikely, since clenched teeth formed the best resistance against a punch, and Criqui's, of necessity, were rather loose.

Glendale Athletes To Battle Pasadena

The Glendale Athletic Club ball team will meet the fast Pasadena Reds at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, at the G. A. C. grounds, Verdugo Park.

This park, formerly owned by the city, is situated on Verdugo road, in the Woodlands, and is surrounded by giant oaks and sycamores.

Preparations have been made by the club to take care of the large crowd that is expected.

Conceding from 75 to 100 pounds in weight, ringside, the flyweights, bantamweights and other little weights are going into the public ring this summer to attempt to lick the daylighters out of the heavyweights, collectively if not individually.

All of which is supposed to infer that the little fellows will vie in with the bulky gents in seeking the major portion of the spotlight, over the summer months.

In this corner we have such heavyweight matches as Jess Willard vs. Luis Firpo, Jack Dempsey vs. Tommy Gibbons, Dempsey vs. Harry Wills; Carpenter vs. Gene Tunney (in the lighter heavy class) and other battles not definitely arranged.

And in this corner, gentlemen, we have Johnny Kilbane meeting Eugene Criqui, Pancho Villa vs. Jimmy Wilde, Benny Leonard vs. Lew Tendler or some other gents, and several other prospective matches.

As the matches stand on paper the heavyweight stars will have to put up some real exhibitions to keep the little fellows from winning the most favor. Jimmy Wilde, world's flyweight champion, and Pancho Villa, American king, will hook up in New York.

Benny Leonard, still lightweight champ though devoting most of his time to the stage, is unlimbering for three or four big bouts. Lew Tendler, the demon southpaw, wants another crack at Leonard and will get it. So does Charley White.

Two or three other lightweights—tired of life—want a crack at the clever New Yorker. So hold your hats.

Fishing Trip Helps Dempsey in Training

GREAT FALLS, June 2.—Refreshed from the mile-high mountain ozone that he has been breathing while culling the swollen streams for trout, Champion Jack Dempsey was back in Great Falls Friday resting at his training camp. Dempsey brought a sufficient number of the speckled beauties with him to furnish a real mountain trout breakfast to every one at Great Falls park, including trainers and sparring partners.

Because he was reluctant to deprive the great American bird of its liberty, Dempsey has released the eagle he captured in the Rocky mountains Wednesday. The champion was more swarthy skinned than ever after his fishing trip. He said the pine air of the mountain forests was a splendid tonic and said he was rarin' to go after his sparring partners again in preparation for the Fourth of July title bout at Shelby.

The WORLD OVER

By FRANKLIN B. MORSE

PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

With the close of two months of play in the Pacific Coast baseball league, critics seem agreed that the San Francisco club is the outfit that will have to be beaten in order to get hands on the 1923 pennant. Thus far none of the other teams has shown the ability to put a crimp in the Seals with the exception of Vernon and Portland at the start of the season. The series won lost and tied to date are as follows:

Club	Won	Lost	Tied
San Francisco	6	2	0
Vernon	5	3	0
Salt Lake	5	3	0
Portland	5	3	0
Sacramento	5	3	0
Los Angeles	3	5	0
Seattle	2	6	0
Oakland	1	7	0

The biggest fluctuation shown has been by the Portland club which two weeks ago dropped from second to fifth place and then last week jumped back again. The Seals have gone through five series in the last five weeks without dropping any of them.

The relative standings of the teams in the percentage column as compared with this time last season gives the subjoined lineup:

TAGGING ALL BASES
The Red Sox stopped the Yanks, 5 to 0, and Jack Quinn the ancient salivary gland artist, stopped Wally Pipp, after the latter had hit safely in twenty-one successive games.

Coming back, like a bad check, the Athletics gained two decisions over the Senators, 7 to 4 and 4 to 2. The double victory returned the Macks to second place.

Dickerman, Decatur and Cadore spent an anguished afternoon on the hill while the Braves hammered out seventeen hits and beat the Dodgers, 11 to 6.

The usual parade of base runners to the plate was conducted at Detroit, four Tiger pitchers being manhandled by the Indians, who won, 17 to 4.

The Giants established a modern record by scoring in every inning and winning in a slow walk from the farcial Phillies, 22 to 8.

BELIEVES IN GLENDALE

PLANS of the Central Avenue Improvement Association call for a beautification of this boulevard on a scale so comprehensive that the finished product, some three years hence, will be on a par with any avenue of the Southland.

Picture a 100-foot boulevard smooth as glass and straight as an arrow, connecting Kenneth Road on the north with San Fernando road on the south, lit by pairs of magnificent metal art standards at 125-foot intervals, and zoned into a strictly residential district north of Wilson avenue, business between Wilson avenue and Colorado street, and hotel and apartment house from Colorado street to San Fernando road.

Revenue Collector

Double the amount of United States government securities is owned and held in California than in any other state, according to a survey completed yesterday and sent to Washington by Collector of Internal Revenue Rex Goodcell.

"This report, which is based on income reported for taxation by California taxpayers, proves beyond the shadow of a doubt that California is the richest state in the Union," Collector Goodcell declared.

Californians for the last fiscal year reported in their income tax returns interest received from United States government obligations amounting to $3,495,000, which is twice the entire amount reported by the eighteen western states of Arizona, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oregon, South Dakota, Utah, Washington, Wyoming, Alaska and Hawaii. With the eastern states of Delaware, New Hampshire and Vermont added, the combined total was $3,464,000, which is less than that returned by California alone.

California reported $134,393,000 received in dividends, which exceeds by $2,000,000 the entire amount returned by the western states of Arizona, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, South Dakota, Oregon, Utah, Washington, Wyoming, and Alaska and Hawaii, with the eastern states of Delaware and Vermont thrown in.

California paid a normal income tax of $28,742,000, which is greater than the combined total of the fifteen western states. Income surtax receipts from California were $21,706,000, which was a million dollars more than the combined collections in the fifteen western states, with the eastern states of Delaware, New Hampshire and Vermont included.

An outstanding feature of Collector Goodcell's report is the fact that under the new revenue act $674,115,000 in personal exemptions were allowed California taxpayers. More than $500,000,000 of this amount was distributed among 351,309 citizens whose incomes were less than $5,000, while only approximately $150,000,000 went to persons reporting incomes in excess of $5,000.

The report points out that 45,664 taxpayers paid surtax of $37,705,000, which is only $7,000,000 less than the total tax paid by 351,309 persons with incomes less than $5,000.

Under the new revenue act $812,000,772 in exemptions of all classes were allowed California income taxpayers for the calendar year.

Harding to Welcome Cross-Country Flyers

WASHINGTON, June 2.—President Harding will participate in a reception here next Wednesday to Lieutenant Macready and Kelly, army aviators, in recognition of their non-stop cross-continent flight, it has been announced at the White House. The president will present the aviators with gold watches to be donated by Dayton, Ohio, Shriners. The ceremony will be held during the Shrine convention.

MANY NEW HOMES

Half a million dollars' worth of new homes were started last month. That is nothing new, however, for $500,000 worth of bungalows were commenced during April also.

ANOTHER BIG ONE

The Glendale Hotel upon the northeast corner of Glendale avenue and Broadway is expected to require a $400,000 building permit. This probably will be issued this month or next.

BUILDING YEARS BEHIND PROGRAM

No Prospect of Decline Is Seen by Magazine; Big Population Growth

"The timid prospective home builder in Los Angeles and other cities of Southern California sometimes wonders if with all the building activity under way the point of saturation has not been reached," says The Home Owner, the Los Angeles magazine on home building and decorating, in its June issue just off the press. "Is there going to be a let-up and a consequent let-down?"

In an effort to determine the feeling among prospective builders as well as contractors, building material companies, architects and others allied with the building movement. The Home Owner has just completed a survey in connection with home building activities which gives assurance, it is said, that there will be no great cessation for some time to come. With these figures as a basis it is pointed out that now is as favorable time as any in which to build.

Way Under Built
"As a matter of fact," the magazine states, "Los Angeles is underbuilt by at least $125,000,000 and somewhat more than four years will be required to take care of even present needs. The normal growth in population is going to require continued activities in the construction of business and residential property."

"Thousands of new residents are coming to Southern California each year and additional thousands of families are arriving at the stage where the building of their own home is the next logical step. The enormous growth of this section of the country simply requires that more and more homes be constructed in order to take care of the increase in population."

Property Prices Jump
"Many prospective home builders are afflicted with the disease known as 'wait a while,' and all the time the property upon which they will have to build their homes is increasing in value. In their desire to await what they call more favorable conditions, they are allowing home sites to rise to a value which more than offsets the saving that might be made in building costs by their delay."

"It is no uncommon thing in Los Angeles to buy a lot for a home site one month and be offered nearly double the purchase price the next month. In fact, it is a difficult thing for many people, at the present time, to retain lots which they have bought with prices advancing steadily."

"However, it is doubtful if there will ever be a more favorable time to build than the present so far as Southern California is concerned. Building and ground costs are not going to lower in any community which grows as rapidly as this does."

Articles of value to prospective home builders in this number of the magazine include "The Home on the Hillside," by H. C. Cham on the Right Wall Paper" by Marion Brownfield; "Planning the Home Garden" by J. J. Reeves; "Surroundings Make the Home Beautiful," by Mrs. Frankie Faulkner, and in addition a number of pages containing plans and ideas for new homes.

GREAT PROSPERITY IN L. A. DISTRICT

Southland Section Leads Entire Country in Taxes
For Internal Revenue

Figures given out at Washington comparing receipts of internal revenue taxes for the country as a whole for April, 1923, with April, 1922, and the first ten months of the present fiscal year with the corresponding period of last year, indicate that in every line of taxes which reflect business conditions Los Angeles district leads the entire country.

In miscellaneous taxes, which include all internal revenue taxes levied except those on incomes, the decrease in receipts of the country as a whole for the first ten months of the fiscal year was thirty-five per cent, while the Los Angeles district showed an increase of 12 per cent for the same period.

In manufacturers' excise tax April receipts for the entire United States increased thirty-three per cent, compared with a forty-two per cent gain in the Los Angeles district.

April receipts of miscellaneous taxes for the country as a whole increased twenty per cent. Los Angeles district's gain was fifty-eight per cent.

Taxes On Estate
Tax receipts from non-alcoholic beverages for the country as a whole broke about even in April, while the Los Angeles district showed an increase of eighty-six per cent.

The United States as a whole collected only $5,833,782 from tax on estates in April compared with receipts of $14,443,129 in April

FLINTRIDGE TOUR OF INTEREST TO MANY PEOPLE

Journey Through Grounds Proves Great Attraction To Motorists.

View From the Model House at Flintridge Highlands

Even though one may not be interested in buying Flintridge property, a tour through Flintridge should be made by everyone who is interested in the purpose of Better Homes Week, according to J. H. Schneek of the Flintridge Sales Company.

"Because it is a highly developed community of artistic homes of every size and kind," declares Mr. Schneek, "Flintridge offers a wealth of suggestion and inspiration to those who are planning new homes. In Flintridge we have, first of all, homes built on every conceivable kind of a site; on knolls, hillsides, in canyons and on level lots; among trees and in the open. Furthermore, we have every variety of style in construction, from cottages and bungalows to mansions in the Colonial, English, Spanish, French and Italian types.

"In addition to the interesting variety of homes and homesites to be seen at Flintridge, we have recently built and completely furnished an attractive home of moderate cost which is known as the Model Country Home. This house is open daily and Sunday to public inspection. It has been artistically appointed to the last detail. Several new built-in effects are here shown for the first time. The house shows in a remarkable way what interesting results can be obtained at moderate cost when the work is intelligently planned. Hundreds of home-planners have visited the house in recent weeks and have found it a mine of ideas and suggestions for use in their own plans.

"No visitor to Flintridge should fail to drive through the fascinating new roads that wind through the trees and skirt the knolls of the Flintridge uplands, through the recently opened district known as Flintridge Highlands. Here on the crown of a hill commanding a magnificent view of the entire surrounding country, another model house is being erected. This house is to cost slightly in excess of $10,000, and like its predecessor, is to be completely furnished and the grounds landscaped. When completed we plan opening it to the public for a short time.

"Every pleasant afternoon and on holidays Flintridge is visited by scores of people who come seeking ideas to be incorporated in their building plans. The interesting thing from our point of view is that they come seeking ideas, but they leave with a determination to build that house in Flintridge."

SPEND MILLION DOLLARS ON HOMES IN GLENDALE

Take Out Many Permits During Months of April and May; Five Room Bungalows Most Popular, So Figures Show

A MILLION dollars' worth of homes were constructed in Glendale during the months of April and May, according to the records in the building department at the city hall. "No big permits were issued last month or the preceding month," remarked H. C. Vandewater, superintendent of the building department. "Substantially all the business done was bungalows, flats and apartments. That means a lot to a city—half a million dollars' worth of dwellings a month."

The value of building permits issued last month, which amounted to $573,637, was over twice as much as the total of $244,785 issued during May, 1922. It is $120,592 more than the total of $453,095 for May, 1921. It is five times the total of $101,429 for 1920, which it exceeds by $472,258.

The total for the year to date exceeds $4,251,759. This is two-thirds of the entire total of $6,376,241 for 1922.

Goal Set for 1923
Ten million dollars' worth of building permits is the goal set for Glendale by H. C. Vandewater. Although neither April nor May reached the million dollar mark, he is confident that this mark will be reached. He called attention to several big construction jobs which will help swell the total. Among them will be $500,000 worth of grammar school construction, the new $400,000 hotel for the northeast corner of Glendale avenue and Broadway, the new depot for the Glendale and Montrose Railway, and the new station for the Southern Pacific.

Five Room Bungalows

Two hundred and seventeen permits were issued last month. Thirty-nine of these covered additions and repairs costing $19,615. Twenty-three garages, costing $5675, were covered in separate permits. In addition, eighty-one permits for bungalows also covered the expense of the necessary garage.

Five-room bungalows were by far the most popular. Thirty-seven permits were issued for homes of this size at an estimated cost of $237,060.

Four-room bungalows, valued at $107,010, tied with six-room bungalows valued at $80,325. Seventeen were issued in each case.

Permits were issued for other classifications as follows: Twelve three-room bungalows, $23,610; six seven-room homes, $33,000; seven eight-room houses, $56,450; eleven duplexes, $54,250; one one-room house, $300; one bungalow court, $26,000; two apartments, $23,500; four filling stations and two service stations, $11,628; four stores and apartments, $58,000; one fruit stand, $500; one real estate office, $250; miscellaneous building, $24,000.

$100,000 Fire Destroys Theatre and Hotel

STUBENVILLE, Ohio, June 2.—Fire early Friday destroyed the Herald Square theatre and badly damaged the Fort Stubenville hotel, entailing a loss estimated at $100,000. The plant of the Herald Printing company, which occupied a part of the theatre building, was slightly damaged.

SCHOOL CONSTRUCTION

Five hundred thousand dollars' worth of grammar school construction is scheduled to commence this month.

NEW S. P. STATION

The Southern Pacific's new local station is expected to increase next month's building total considerably.

REALTY MEN TO HOLD CONVENTION

Next National Meeting to Be Called to Order June 27 in Cleveland

By W. L. HOLLINGSWORTH Director National Association of Real Estate Boards

June, 1922, was a red letter month for the state of California—the National Association of Real Estate Boards held its annual convention in the city of San Francisco. Delegates from more than 200 boards attended. The delegates and their friends, while in this state, visited a great many localities, and we are assured that they all returned home with a love and affection for our state, and a lingering hope that they might come back to enjoy our prosperity and wonderful living conditions.

The next national association convention will be held in Cleveland, O., June 27, 28, 29 and 30, and every realtor who attends will be looking for some California realtor to express to him what a glorious time he had while in California, and to ask a lot of questions about our great state.

Every California realtor has much to gain by attending this coming convention. Undoubtedly, there is no state in the Union which has so much to ask. We want the national association to assist us in procuring homeseekers' rates. We want the national association, through its representatives, to urge the congress to make an appropriation for protecting the Imperial Valley, to help us in our reclamation program and in the construction of one or more transcontinental highways. This, and many other things are vital to the state of California.

The program has been worked out in such a manner that real estate in all its various phases will be discussed by practical men, dealing upon subjects which confront us every day, and if a man is interested in industries, apartments, residences, subdivisions and other subjects of like nature, he will, if he attends the Cleveland meeting, receive information that will be extremely valuable.

VISITORS BUYING
HOMESITES HERE

Sparr Heights Makes Appeal To Tourists Reaching Here From East

It is estimated that at least 500,000 persons will visit southern California this summer in automobiles. These travelers choose this means of transportation, because it gives them more opportunity to see the country en route, and, above all, because they wish to have an independent manner of travel by means of which they may visit every part of southern California and enjoy what it offers in the way of pleasure and rest.

Of these travelers, it is further estimated that 40 per cent will either remain permanently or will make arrangements for their early return to southern California, seeking, while here, homes where they may be located or homesites upon which to build. It is natural that they should choose those localities which give the most promise for the future, and whose promise is not in the future alone but is being translated into performance now.

A permanent home is one of the essentials for happiness, in a new environment, for only in permanence do the home roots strike deeply. Nowhere is there a more ideally perfect location, environment, future promise and present performance more evident than in Sparr Heights. Every utility to which the city dwellers are accustomed and which the modern home demands is available in this new community, but the country-life and surroundings furnished by a hillside homesite here, where there is easy access to the city, an unrivaled golf course, educational facilities in the making, a business center limited to a certain district in which alone it may expand, are offered by no other residential tract.

Value of Beauty

People are beginning to realize the spiritual value in the constant inspiration of a beautiful outlook, contact with nature and the freedom afforded to individual expansion by life untrammelled by modern city handicaps. Many of these persons will be among the motor tourists to this section, and with fully 5000 of them daily passing through the tract, over the Verdugo Road, the only outlet to and from Los Angeles of the communities to the north, Sparr Heights will demonstrate its many attractions. Already many inquiries are being received from prospective tourists, and Sparr Heights is prepared to receive the strangers, and their friends, and when they have viewed the wonderful panorama of mountains, valley and rolling foothills, with glimpses of the distant ocean from the summits, they will do as so many many other persons of discrimination and taste are doing, they will choose their homesite overlooking the green golf course and plan the home for their families.

RAINBOW VALLEY
OPEN TO PUBLIC

Large Lots at Small Prices Are Being Offered to Investors Here

Rainbow Valley, lying to left and right of Michigan avenue, just beyond Sunland, in the heart of a level and fertile country, is now open to the public in large, roomy lots, at the unheard of prices of from $198 to $398, with boulevard lots at $498. It is the announcement that comes from J. L.
Le Berthon, at the Glendale office of the company, southeast corner of Brand Boulevard and Colorado street.

The lots will go on sale Sunday, June 3, when there will be salesmen on the tract.

"Rainbow Valley is but twenty-five minutes from Glendale," states Mr. Le Berthon, "and only three minutes below Sunland.
From Los Angeles, Glendale, Burbank, Pasadena, San Fernando and other points, there are direct roads leading to our 200-acre tract.

"The way to get there is to drive out Verdugo road to Montrose, then along Michigan avenue through Tujunga to Sunland, and down into the Rainbow Valley, the location of our property.

"Rainbow Valley, as we will develop it, will be transformed into a combination home and pleasure settlement, where outdoor pleasures abound. We will install a swimming pool, tennis courts, children's playgrounds, croquet courts, horseshoe and quoit grounds, dancing pavilion and numerous other features.

"In addition, all modern improvements, including water, electricity and graded and graveled streets, will be put in. There will be adequate restrictions, beautiful ornamental shade trees, community park—all at a ridiculously low figure. Paying down of as low as $10, with monthly payments of $10, will obtain one of these fine lots."

Mr. LeBerthon states that everyone coming out should register for the log cabin style home that will be given away free.

The HOME GARDEN

What is Home without a Garden?

Good Form With The Spade

Many people are deterred from gardening through the advice handed down from past generations of foreign gardeners who make the hardest possible work of it. Particularly in regard to the time-worn advice to trench the soil, a ditch digger's job.

Many gardeners find that ordinary spading with only a depth of the fork turned over produces very excellent results in the way of vegetables. In fairly good soil this will suffice. If stable manure is at hand, a light dressing spaded in will assure good crops.
In the case of light sandy, poor soils, more care is necessary. Few of the vegetables need more than a foot depth of root room and the ordinary spading gives around eight inches. For deep rooting plants like asparagus and rhubarb deeper preparation of the soil is advisable.

By using commercial fertilizer put up in powdered form to be sown lightly upon the surface of the soil and raked in, much of the burden of spading in manure is done away with, but the soil suffers in quality and for the lack of decayed vegetable matter in consequence. This is obviated by spading in decaying leaves in the fall or having them plowed in to rot over winter.

An ordinarily good spading with a spading fork will suffice for the average garden and careful cultivation with a hoe during the hot summer months will do the rest. The main necessity is to conserve the moisture in the soil during dry spells by keeping the surface of the soil stirred and creating a dust mulch to delay evaporation as well as to destroy weeds.

Once the weeds are hoed in the spring it is an easy matter to vote a few moments a day to stirring the soil and preventing the growth of a fresh crop, particularly after rains when germination is fastest.

If a Gardener, Don't Be a Dub

Too many gardeners still follow the practice of buying and sowing radish, sweet corn or aster seed, instead of buying, sowing and enjoying the delight of harvesting golden bantam corn, scarlet globe radishes and American Beauty or ostrich feather asters.
In other words, they stopped learning when they know how to sow and cultivate a crop and remain content in complete ignorance of the finer points of the gardening game. There is something for a man settling down to be a dub, for it is often hopeless to beat 100. But there is no reason except lazy-mindedness for remaining a dub gardener.

The business of producing and marketing garden seeds is not what it used to be. Catalogues no longer depict watermelons that fill a hay-rick and beans six feet long. Our memories of such things are childhood recollections.
Nowadays a seedsmen prides himself on picturing accurately the characteristics of the vegetables and flowers his seeds will grow, and the more exact his descriptions are the more he is pleased.

Names have been standardized to a large extent and with every class of vegetable certain well-fixed varieties, having definite and distinctive merits, have become known throughout the country each for a certain purpose. To become familiar with these is no harder than reading a treatise on golf and the knowledge one acquires is far more valuable and far rarer. A gardener who knows all about the various standard flowers and vegetables can hold a suburban gathering enthralled for hours.

Every year some advance is registered in the improvement of our vegetable strains, either in developing disease resistance or better flavor.

What is the biggest variety of head lettuce? New York or Wonderful. It produces cabbage-heads weighing three pounds and stands hot weather well. Sow it for a main crop in ground rich enough where you can apply water, feed it regularly with nitrate and you will make your neighbor's envious.

There is always a race in every neighborhood to produce the earliest peas. What is the earliest variety? It is Alaska, which matures in 45 days, but has smooth-seeded peas, not so sweet as the wrinkled kind. It stands cold, wet ground, however, better. If harvested young they are delicious. American Wonder is the earliest wrinkled pea, maturing in 55 days, closely followed by Laxtonian and Little Marvel.
The largest podded pea is a tall variety, Quite Content, which Henry T. Finck, author of "Gardening with Brains," says is the finest of all. Little Marvel is excellent for the home garden, because it remains tender so long on the vine.

These are a few of the facts about standard varieties which the inquiring gardener gets to know, and which make his harvest so much more enjoyable because he knows he is playing at the top of the garden-game, and enjoying the finest quality of food possible to have on this earth.

The Verbenas of Today
Unlike Old Variety

In the brilliant colored, large flowered verbenas of today our grandmothers would hardly recognize the old-fashioned flower which two generations ago had only a few pure colors, but offered to produce its most luxuriant growth, but will do well in almost any situation, provided only it is in full sun. Verbenas should not be set closer than 18 inches apart.

A different species from the ordinary bedding type, verbenas is an upright grower with brilliant purple flowers. This is much used in parks to give masses of color. Still another very dainty type is now as verbenas erinoides, having finely cut foliage and purplish rose blooms changing to blue.

Modern Cockscombs
Much In Favor

Since the vogue of winter bouquets, the cockscomb or celosia, an old-time favorite, is coming back into its own in the flower garden. The decorative effect of a bed of these brilliant scarlet, crimson, rose and yellow plumes and combs is as striking as any annual planting that can be made.
The plumed type is now more popular than the dwarf "comb," or cristata type, which has been a favorite with park gardeners for many years.

The introduction of Celosia chilensis, or Chinese woolflower, with its brilliant spherical pom-poms terminating every branch, gave an impetus to the culture of this annual. A new type known as chrysantheflora has appeared in a striking series of colors, the compound round heads of bloom suggesting the chrysanthemum.
As they dry without losing their brilliant coloring, they have become very popular.

A still later type is the par-rot's feather, which shows a combination of the plumed type often topped by a comb of the old-fashioned type. This type shows a striking series of colors and at once attracts attention wherever grown. The Pride of Castle Gould plumy type still remains the favorite.

The seed of these types may be started indoors or in the open ground as soon as danger of frost is over, and the plants transplanted to their permanent beds. In most classes of this plant the color of the bloom or plume will be shown by the stem coloring almost as soon as the seeds germinate.

They should be planted from eighteen inches to two feet apart, if the plan is to develop the side shoots and the pyramidal growth which make it one of the most striking annuals in the garden.
The cockscomb is not so particular as to soil, but will respond to fertilizing. It should be watered freely in dry spells, especially when the plumes are showing, to permit their full development.
They should be cut before the lower portions turn dingy, if they are to be dried for winter bouquets.

Lots of folks kill eggplant by setting them in soil in which there is fresh manure. Stable manure should never be used on an eggplant. Give it a commercial fertilizer strong in potash.

Using Commercial Fertilizer

Sparsingly and often is the best motto to hang up in connection with the use of commercial fertilizers, particularly those strong in nitrogen. Light sprinklings hoed in every two weeks will prove more effective than heavier dressings which furnish more food than the plants can use.

Nitrate of soda, one of the most effective and quickest acting fertilizers, should be used very sparingly at each application. It should not touch the leaves of the plants, as it will burn them. It is best applied when the soil is moist. It should be powdered finely by smashing the lumps before it is distributed over the surface of the soil. It is the great encourager of plant growth, and in the early spring is very effective on asparagus beds.

Bone meal is a slow acting fertilizer and one of the most permanent. Some of its fertilizing property is utilized quickly, but as it remains in the ground and decays it furnishes a constant supply for at least a year. It cannot harm the plants and is one of the safest and best of the commercial types of fertilizer to use.

Balanced fertilizers are described by a code consisting of three numbers separated by hyphens, such as, for example, 3-10-1, and 5-8-4. The first number is the percentage of nitrogen or ammonia contained in the mixture; the second, the percentage of phosphorus, and the third,
the percentage of phosphate.
These are the three chief elements of fertilizer. Mixtures containing the greatest percentage of potash are the best for root crops.
Those containing a heavier ratio of nitrogen are better for leaf growth.

While it is wasteful to burn leaves and vegetable rubbish in the spring or fall, when it might be composted, some of it, such as cornstalks, asparagus tops, pea and bean vines, are so coarse that their disintegration takes a long time. If these are burned the ashes should be saved and spread over the garden, as they contain valuable fertilizing content in the way of potash. Wood ashes are especially valuable in potash, and all available should be spread over the garden.

Asparagus au Gratin
Use the tops of cooked asparagus for this dish. Place the asparagus cut into inch sections in a baking dish and pour over it a white sauce. Season the white sauce with a dash of nutmeg and a dash of cayenne, otherwise it will be too bland. Sprinkle bread crumbs and grated cheese over the top and bake until browned.

A novel and appetizing use for boiled beets is in corn beef hash.
Chop cold boiled beets fine and use equal parts of beets and potatoes with the beef and onion, or discard the potatoes altogether.
Some cooks add chopped green peppers.

Ostrich feathers weighing 25-

CHARMING CANYON FINE SITE FOR REAL HOME

Place for Millionaire, but Priced So That Middle Class Man Can Easily Pay; Invite People to Picnic Under Shade Trees

The Old Home—"The spot of earth, supremely blest; The dearer, sweeter spot than all the rest."

Do you remember your childhood days, when you played around the wildwood and down by the limpid stream which trickled through the valley on its way to the sea? Do you recall those chums of yesterday, for instance Johnnie Smith and Jimmy Scott and the rest who used to climb in the trees and play Indian with you when you were a boy?

It is a far call for some—back to the golden days of home and mother, but W. L. Twining & Myers sounded just such sentiment today in describing the beauties of Woodland Park, which his firm is selling. At his office, 227A South Brand boulevard, he gave a description of this ideal residential section that will long linger in the memory.

In Dreaming Canyon

Out along Canada boulevard, off Verdugo road on Opechee way, you will find Woodland Park situated. It is in the canyon where early days first built their haciendas and established Spain in the new continent. There are two living streams running through the property; many live oaks, sycamores, willow and alder trees for shade; and large lots where the children can play as they did in the bygone days.

City life, with its apartments and crowded conditions, is taking all of the joy out of family life, according to Mr. Twining. So his firm is fostering Woodland Park, as well as country estates farther up in the hills. In speaking of Woodland Park, which lies well within the city limits of Glendale and on the 5-cent Montrose carline, he said:

"This is the only place in this section of Southern California where one gets a homestead for a millionaires at a price a middle class man can pay. We are giving the buyer the opportunity to make some money on his investment, although our prices are specially suitable for the home builder who wants to get a desirable location at a figure to fit any pocketbook."

Low-Priced Lots

"Yes," added Mr. Myers, "you would be surprised at what we can offer the builder in the way of a big, desirable lot for $1,600, as an example of our popular priced subdivision."

In other columns will be found the advertised description of Woodland Park, but Messrs. Twining and Myers both suggest that the many Glendale people who would like to picnic under the big shade trees come out to Canada boulevard and Opechee way and join the big family of home folks who are going to see the tract tomorrow.

Salesmen are at the office, both down town and on the tract, every day to show visitors the beauties of Glendale's green Verdugo hills.

French Gold Beaters Demand High Wages

PARIS, June 2.—Three hundred of the most important persons in the world have just gone on strike here.

They are gold hammerers, members of a profession which totals in the entire world less than 1000 members.

Their business is to manufacture gold sheets for jewelers. Eighteen thousand hammerings are necessary for every sheet thus made. None of it is done by machinery.

In fact, the process used today is exactly the same as that commonly practiced by the ancient Romans, who used gold leaf lavishly for interior decoration.

Before 1870 the industry was exclusively Parisian. Now there taking a vacation this summer. This is your opportunity. The chairman of the Cleveland entertainment committee has recently issued a letter, in which he invites all realtors to bring their wives with them, stating that an elaborate program has been arranged for the ladies.

Low Rates Given

California realtors should make every effort to send a big delegation. The time is short. Will you not report immediately to the secretary of your board your intention of taking the trip in order that he may get in communication with the proper parties?

A very attractive round-trip rate to Cleveland of $108.50 has been made by the railroads—going one route and returning another if desired, and with stop-over privileges.

Write Leslie E. Burks, 156 Montgomery street, San Francisco, or Tom Ingersoll, 631 South Spring street, Los Angeles, for information regarding the special parties leaving from the northern and southern parts of the state.

MANY BUNGALOWS

Thirty-seven five-room bungalows are now under way in Glendale. Their estimated cost is $237,060.

VALUE INCREASES

The value of building permits issued last month was five times as much as the value of those issued during May, 1920.

are gold-hammerers in Berlin, Brussels and London.

Building Permits For Two Months Set New Record

OVER twice as many building permits in totals were issued during the month, which closed at midnight, May 31, as during last May. Building records at the city hall closed at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon with $573,687 to the final credit of May, which is just $328,899 in excess of the total of $244,788 for May, 1922. The total for last month, also, is $120,592 more than the total of $453,095 for May, 1921. Likewise, it is five times the total of $101,429 for 1920 which it exceeds by $472,258.

The total for the year to date yesterday was $4,251,759. This is two-thirds of the entire total of $6,376,241 for 1922. With seven months left in 1923 and a number of large building projects in contemplation, H. C. Vandewater, superintendent of the building department, is confident that this year's total will pass the $10,000,000 mark.

Baseball Flourishes On Vacant Paris Lots

PARIS, June 2.—The grand American game of baseball brought to France by the A. E. F., is thriving in Paris this season.

A league composed of four teams, each of a different nationality, is now playing a regular schedule of weekly games.

One team is made up of American players in Paris, another is composed of members of the Japanese Embassy, a third from employees of the Canadian-Pacific Railroad offices, while the fourth is a French team composed of members of the Ranelagh club.

Some of the games of the league will be played on the new field of the Paris University club. According to Jean Petitjean, president of the International Students' Association and an official of the Paris University club, French university students are taking a liking to the American sport.

French schoolboys also are taking up baseball. "Scrub" games are frequently seen on vacant lots, just as in any American city. An American-English school has organized a regular "nine," which occasionally meets a team of French boys.

NEW BUNGALOWS

Eight $6000 permits for new bungalows were issued last month by the building department.

The building department last month issued fourteen permits for $4000 permits.

AUTO TOURISTS AID CALIFORNIA

Spend Large Sums Here Yearly, According to Club Officials

California now leads the United States in number of automobiles registered, having passed the 1,000,000 mark, according to M. B. Towman, manager of the Glendale office of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

"In fact, California is well up in its first 100,000 of the second million," says Mr. Towman. "This means she is ahead of both New York and Pennsylvania, hitherto leaders in the race for number of motor vehicles registered."

"Last year 87,000 autos entered southern California, carrying a total of 300,000 people, who spent while here in excess of $100,000,000. From her tourists, California derived in 1922 a revenue second only to that taken out of the ground in minerals, under which category comes oil."

Much From Tourists

"It is estimated by the Automobile Club of Southern California that in 1923 the revenue derived by California from its tourists will exceed even that derived from the minerals."

"By advertising and sign-posting, the club is doing everything possible to induce tourists to come here, realizing that they are a prime factor in our prosperity."

A great influx of tourists such as southern California is getting, is an asset scarcely to be overestimated. Every city in the southland is affected directly and decidedly, as each new day pours new trainloads and caravans of autoists into this favored section of the United States.

And particularly is Glendale affected, being so strategically located with respect to Los Angeles, the great southland metropolis. In order to ascertain the number of automobile tourists attracted to Glendale, Mr. Towman has instructed his office on South Brand boulevard to keep an accurate record of non-resident licenses issued during the month of June. These records will be published in this paper from time to time, in the course of the next four weeks, as a guide to the percentage of automobile tourist trade Glendale is getting.

Hanson Reports Boomerang

Peter Hanson, prominent local realtor and chairman of the publicity committee of the Glendale Realty Board, states that the large amount of advertising being done by the local board is not without its humorous come-backs. As chairman of the publicity committee of the board, Mr. Hanson has been directly responsible for a good part of this advertising. He reports the following funny story in connection therewith.

A woman in Oshkosh, Wis., owning a piece of South Brand footage, placed it with Mr. Hanson for sale. Mr. Hanson promptly obtained a buyer and notified the woman. But while his letter was in the mail one came from her, stating she had read in a Milwaukee paper how South Brand property, Glendale, was booming—and requested Mr. Hanson to raise the price of her footage $1500, which lost the sale.

A man writing to Mr. Hanson from Dawson, Minn., states that he chanced to pick up a St. Paul paper, where he read that Glendale, Calif., was a fast-growing city of the west—and was writing to know how the real estate business was there, as he was thinking of coming to Glendale and entering that business.

STORES, APARTMENTS

Only one real estate tract office was built last month according to the records in the building department at the city hall.

AUTOMOBILE SECTION

GIVES HINTS ON HIGHER ALTITUDE

More Gasoline Will Be Used; Lower Gear Need on Most Grades

So many motorists are either taking trips or planning trips into the higher altitudes of this part of the state and even to the national parks, that the Auto club of Southern California in conjunction with the department of the interior, has decided to issue some information of pertinent interest to all such travelers.

On roads passing through an altitude of from 2000 to 11,000 feet the propelling power of motor cars, points out the Auto club, is generally much reduced.

A leaner mixture of gasoline and air is consequently required in such instances and on account of reduced engine power sometimes almost fifty per cent more gasoline will be used per mile than at the many sea level altitudes of Southern California.

Use Lower Gear

Motorists will often find that it will be necessary at the higher altitudes in the vicinity of 3000 feet that a lower gear will generally have to be used on grades than would be used in other places, points out the club touring bureau.

When you are traveling in the higher altitudes, passing up a long grade, the heat of the engine may become serious unless care is used. It is a good idea to keep an eye out for springs of cold clear water with which to replenish the radiator at every opportunity, because you never can tell when you may have to travel a great distance without coming upon more available water.

If you stop on the grade and block your wheels with large rocks, be sure that you take the rocks out of the road when you go on, ask club officials, as other cars coming down the grade and hitting these rocks are in danger of being thrown over the side of the road as a result.

Miniature Grand Canyon Is Close to Glendale; Journey By Auto Fine Sunday Trip

NO DOUBT many readers have visited the Grand Canyon of Colorado, but very few realize that we have tucked away in our own hills a miniature Grand Canyon, one that embodies all of the beauties of its famous brother, except as to size.

Sheer precipitous walls, towering for hundreds of feet above the crystal clear waters of the never-failing stream as it winds its way between the age-worn and weather-beaten rocks and boulders strewn over the floor of the canyon.

Cut by countless ages of water erosion, through mountains of varied colored strata of solid granite and red sandstone, the canyon presents a picture of beauty and grandeur found at no other spot in Southern California.

The canyon is about one-quarter of a mile wide and some thirty miles long, through which the clear waters of the Sespee flows for the entire distance, giving to the fly fisherman the finest opportunity to practice his art.

For the greater part of its length is a series of pools, great, wide and deep pools wherein live and grow the mighty rainbows, a most ideal stream for fishing, as the banks are remarkably free from brush.

The stream bed is rough and rugged, and, as a matter of precaution, it is well to be equipped with a pair of rubber-soled wading shoes, "grip-sure" being the most ideal; with these the thought of slipping or a bad fall may be dismissed from the mind.

It is not a hard drive or a difficult trip, requiring about three hours' time and sixty-eight miles of travel.

Leave the city by the San Fernando boulevard, follow same through San Fernando, Newhall to Saugus, here take the left-hand highway for four miles to Castaic, here take left-hand pavement to Fillmore, pass through Fillmore on the Santa Paula highway, cross the second bridge and turn to the right from here, the road follows the canyon to Henley's toll gate, where a toll of $1 per car is charged.

It is possible to drive one and a quarter miles up stream to Henley's north gate, where some splendid camp spots are to be found. Do not attempt to drive further, as the road from here is in poor condition. A very good foot trail leads up stream, however, and the most beautiful part of the canyon and the best fishing is up stream some three or four miles.

It is a most ideal Sunday outing, traversing through and along our most beautiful hills.

TREATMENT OF FAN BELT

A leather fan belt should be cleaned with gasoline and then soaked over night in castor oil. This treatment will revive the grip of even the oldest belt.

FOR CLEANING PARTS

Washing soda, kerosene and plain soap and water should be the cleaning agents used by car owners for cleaning parts, tools, etc., about the garage.

START CAMPAIGN OVER ACCIDENTS

Ohio Cities Make Efforts to Cut Down Number of Children Hurt

Cities in Ohio are combining in an educational campaign in an effort to cut down the number of accidental deaths of children from automobiles.

They have found that almost a fourth of the victims of automobile casualties are children. Probably the proportion is about the same in Los Angeles.

The Ohio cities are using the schools in the campaign to a large extent. But among other methods used is one directed at mothers.

Your Child Can Be Saved

When you were a little girl it was safe to play in the street. Today the child who does so risks his life.

The chief cause of accidental death to children is the automobile.

Teach Your Children These Rules and Save Them

(2). Never run off the sidewalk after a ball. Slow up and look.

(4). Play on the sidewalk or in a lot, playground or yard. Never play in the street.

Watch Ammeter, Is Suggestion to Driver

If you have not yet got into the habit of watching the ammeter, do so without delay. It is the watchdog of the battery and tells the observant motorist nearly everything that is taking place. At ordinary speeds the ammeter should show charge, and even with all the lights going there should still be an amperes or two of current passing into the battery. When the engine is stopped and the lights out the ammeter should stand at zero. If it indicates a discharge there is a short-circuit.

COMMITTEE WILL STUDY HIGHWAYS

Complete System of State Roads to Be Proposed By New Body

One of the greatest forward steps in state highway construction was taken when Governor Richardson signed Assembly Bill 1344 by Mr. Bromley, which authorizes the appointment of a committee of nine persons to enter upon a detailed and comprehensive study of the road problems of the state.

The committee, which serves without pay, is authorized to propose a complete system of state roads, study types of construction and materials to be used, to recommend the inclusion of additional mileage, the exclusion of certain legislative roads now included in the system, and the time to be occupied in the completion of the system. Most important of all its duties will be the submission, in its report to the legislature two years hence, of some plan for financing the enterprise. It is estimated by the engineering department of the highway commission, through R. M. Morton, state highway engineer, that it will require at least two hundred millions of dollars to complete the 6500 miles of highway now included in the system.

Funds to Be Raised

To issue bonds for so vast a sum would seem to be bad financing, so some other mode of raising funds for new construction would seem advisable. It might come from a gas, weight, license or tire tax, made just sufficiently large to carry construction over a period of years. There is also quite a widespread and growing sentiment in the state in favor of an oil production tax of a few cents a barrel or small percentage of selling cost. Those favoring such a tax argue that what comes out of the earth, never to return, should be used as a basis to put something on the surface of the earth for the public welfare.

Whatever the committee recommends will only be after full and careful consideration and, no doubt, the report will have weight with the legislature to which it is submitted.

DON'T PICK YUCCAS, IS WARNING

Number of Arrests Being Made; Blossoms Prove Lure to Tourists

Serious consideration, for the first time in history, is being given to motorists who persist in hacking down the great yucca blooms which dot the hills of this part of the state.

Some counties, point out officials of the Automobile Club of Southern California, have passed laws making it a misdemeanor to cut the yucca blooms, and other counties are rapidly following the idea with similar protective measures.

Seventeen autoists were arrested recently near Palmdale in Los Angeles county for picking the yucca and other arrests are threatened in various southern counties. The yucca bloom is indigenous and typical of Southern California with its gigantic wax-like blossoms. The yucca in most cases forms a part of the protection of the watershed on some of the dryer hill sections of the state, and for that reason the destruction of the seeds contained in the blossoms is considered somewhat of a menace to the watershed protection.

Sight for Tourists

But most important of all, say officials of the Auto club, is the fact that the yucca offers a sight to eastern motorists which can be found in no other part of the United States, and for that reason it is most important that they be preserved as an attraction for tourists here about.

Hundreds of letters have been received by the Auto club from nature lovers throughout America asking that some action be taken to stop thoughtless motorists from taking home the big blossoms and the club today points out that these blossoms wilt and die as soon as they are plucked and are of no earthly use once they are taken from their natural haunts, as they will not last over night.

MOUNTAIN TRIPS TEST FOR ESSEX

Old and New Models Prove Sturdiness In Hard
Desert Run

Many Essex cars that have gone over 30,000 miles are doing exceptional service in the hands of their original owners, and almost every week brings new evidence that the older an Essex gets, the better it performs. The latest testimonial to this effect comes in a letter to the Kelley Motor Company, local Hudson and Essex dealers, from P. N. Myers, clerk and recorder for the city of Calipatria.

"The car has now gone 35,660 miles," said Mr. Myers, "and it has always brought me home and many times against adverse conditions of weather and roads as ever prevail in the desert country."

"The sturdiness and reliability of the Essex is a continuing marvel, even to me. I have just returned from a two-day trip to Julian, in San Diego county, going out by the San Felipe road, the new Sentance Gorge road just opened and the old Banner grade. This road is very rough and sandy in spots, especially in San Diego county before reaching the Narrows where the road leads into the canyon. The old Banner grade noted for its roughness and steepness, rising about 1,700 feet in three miles, with narrow road bed, close turns and surfaced mostly with large, permanently imbedded rocks, forming a very uneven surface to climb over, but it was negotiated without difficulty in second gear, with only two changes to low at dangerous spots. I was accompanied on this trip by Prof. C. R. Prince, superintendent of schools at Calipatria, running his 1923 model Essex, and both the old and the new cars made perfect scores."

On the return trip we branched off to the northeast at the Narrows, and headed into Borrego valley, going to the end of the road at the foot of Coyote Creek canyon. Here we encountered short, steep inclines and cross-washed desert road which defied the driver to proceed faster than eight to ten miles an hour (unless he was intent on breaking his car and his neck too), and then the sand! Up a steady rise in elevation both Essex cars bucked "sugar" sand for over two miles, with a tail wind blowing."

BIG DEMAND FOR ONE-TON TRUCKS

Ford Sales Leap As Towns And Farms Add Motor Equipment

DETROIT, Mich., June 2.—Motorization of delivery and hauling systems in the cities and through agricultural sections where improved highways have greatly facilitated transportation continues to increase at a rapid pace.

One-ton trucks still lead in popularity by a wide margin.

This is strikingly shown in the sales of Ford trucks, the demand for which has more than doubled the sales of a year ago.

During the first four months of this year the Ford Motor Company delivered at retail in the United States a total of 59,978 trucks, 31,682 more than were sold in the same period last year.

The Ford Motor Company during the week ending Tuesday, May 15 set up a new production record by turning out 39,303 cars and trucks for domestic use, it is announced by The Ford News. This exceeds by 250 the previous high weekly record of 39,053, established the week before.

The highest day of the last week was May 9, when a new daily production mark of 6,615 cars and trucks was reached.

At River Rouge the Fordson Tractor plant's production for the week was 2,940.

OUTPUT FOR MAY SHOWS INCREASE

Chevrolet Sales for Month
50 Per Cent Greater Than May 1922

Concrete evidence of the growing popularity for Chevrolet cars is shown in the May statement of C. L. Smith, Glendale distributor, Colorado and Orange, who reports that his sales last month showed a fifty per cent increase over those of May, 1922, and he predicts that the June sales will also show an even greater increase over the 1922 figures for the same month.

Mr. Smith has been notified of the erection of two new Chevrolet factories, one at Buffalo, N. Y., and the other at Cincinnati, Ohio, that will be completed within the next sixty days and that will more than double the present monthly output of 40,000 cars.

The shortage in Chevrolets, which has been acute for some time past, has been relieved by extraordinary efforts by every branch of the organization during the past month, but even these efforts have fallen short of the required production, and the opening of the two new factories is expected to permit the manufacturers of Chevrolets to catch up with the demand, for the time at least, when it is predicted that still further factories will be needed to fill the orders that are pouring in as the worth of the Chevrolet becomes more widely recognized.

TIGHTEN SPOKES IN AUTO WHEELS

New Compound Causes
Wood to Swell Permanently, Says Dealer

While this is the season of the year when every motorist's thoughts are centered on vacation plans, he should not forget some of the minute details that will mean so much toward his comfort and safety during his trip. In making preparations for the tour, it is essential that a thorough inspection of the car be made, giving every part of the motor, body, chassis and wheels the same careful attention. The spokes in the wheel have no doubt loosened, not to the extent where they squeak and become annoying perhaps, but careful scrutiny of the spokes next to the hub may reveal little particles of paint have chipped off or become cracked. If nothing is done to check this menace, an annoying squeak will soon develop and will eventually land the car in the repair shop for wheel repairs.

In the days when the spring wagon was the common mode of conveyance and a squeaky wheel would develop it usually meant days of delay in order to overcome this annoying wheel would be removed and either left to soak in a pool of water until the wood had expanded or the entire rim would be shrunk until the wheel had tightened. The modern way to tighten loose spokes, however, is an easy task and requires but a few minutes' work.

Dealer Tells Method
"The 'village smithy' with his forge and anvil takes no part in this work today," according to Claude Roubush, local manager of the Western Auto Supply Company, "as it is an easy matter for the car owner to jack up the wheel, loosen the hub bolts and pour a few drops of Spoke-tite between the flanges and spider of the wheel. Cracks in the spokes may be remedied with this magic compound as well. After the spokes have well absorbed this liquid, the hub bolts are tightened and the operation is completed. The peculiar ingredients that are entered into this compound cause the wood to swell, tightening the spokes in the hub and felloe. The repair is permanent, as 'Spoke-tite' does not dry out and allow the wood to shrink again."

This is so simple an operation that the motorist cannot afford to take any chances with loose spokes that are ever a source of annoyance as well as being a near tragedy."

FISHER TO MAKE OAKLAND BODIES

Erect Factory at Pontiac To Cut Heavy Cost
Of Hauling

All bodies for the Oakland Motor Car Company, Pontiac, Mich., will be built in the huge $2,000,000 Fisher Body corporation factory which is being built within three-quarters of a mile from the Oakland plant in Pontiac.

The foundation and walls are nearly completed and it is planned to start turning out the Oakland bodies in this factory early in August. It is stated that this new industry in Pontiac will give employment to approximately 2,500 men.

The location for the new factory is on a twenty-six-acre site, and rails, ties and spikes have already been placed on the ground to build the 800-foot spur track of the Grand Trunk railroad.

The factory will be partly one and partly two-story construction, of saw-tooth design, and built of brick with metal fireproof sash. The contract calls for the completion of the factory building within ninety days.

The building of Oakland bodies in Pontiac eliminates the haul from the factories of the Fisher Body corporation in Detroit. All Oakland open as well as closed bodies will be built in this new plant.

EXPOSITION AID TO PAIGE SALES

Display Brings Inquiries to Local Agent for Allied Lines

The results that have been obtained by Ralph B. Bliss, Paige and Jewett agent, 306 East Colorado street, through the display of the two cars at the Industrial Exposition, have been received as a direct consequence of the display there. One of the first purchasers of a Paige sport model touring car was K. J. Crawford, 301 North Cedar street, who is interested in aviation and who has a location at the Glendale airport.

Within the past week the establishment of a Burbank branch has been found to be necessary, and Mr. Paden is there at present arranging for the opening of this branch, which will be in charge of Harry Miller, an experienced Paige salesman, and a full line of both models will be carried there. Several carloads of Paiges and Jewetts are en route to Glendale now, the first of which will be delivered here on Monday, when several cars will be delivered to the customers who have already placed their orders.

which to make the appointments. The bill provides that the committee shall be composed of the state highway engineer, one member of the highway commission, one member of the state board of control, one member of the senate, one member of the assembly and four members from the state at large.

Bond Money Spent
At the time the governor signed the bill, he issued the following statement:

"The people of the state of California have authorized three bond issues for building roads; one for $18,000,000; one for $15,- 000,000, and one for $40,000,000.

The state highway system now consists of approximately 6400 miles of highways, of which less than 4000 have been graded, and less than 2500 have been paved. Less than $6,000,000 remains in the three bond issues which can be devoted to the completion of the state highway system. Legislation in the past has added a great many pork barrel roads to the highway system, many of which are not properly state highways. The amount of traffic on the highway system has doubled in the past five years, and has nearly quadrupled since the project was begun. The state highway engineer now estimates that $200,000,000 will be required to complete all of the roads in the state highway system.

"The bill just signed authorizes me to appoint an advisory committee of seven to act in conjunction with the highway commission and the highway engineer for the purpose of making a complete study of the whole highway system and report to the next legislature, to plan for financing the highways, the question as to the type of pavement, and also what roads should be in the highway system."

CATHOLIC PRIEST CHANDLER OWNER

Father Galvin's Touring Car Fitted Up With Every Convenience

Among the latest local autoists to take delivery of a Chandler car is Father Michael Galvin of the Roman Catholic church, who yesterday got a new touring car from Smith & Howe, local agents, 116 North Maryland, with all the trimmings on it that go to make for motoring comfort. Father Galvin has expressed himself as being immensely pleased with his new car, which will come in very useful in helping him to carry out his duties in the parish and which necessitate his covering a lot of ground.

The biggest demand on both the Chandler and Cleveland cars, says Bine J. Smith, is on the closed models, with the Cleveland two-door sedan leading the procession in popular favor, but on all the other models the demand is so brisk as to keep the firm hustling to supply it and to get cars here on time, in spite of the fact that their deliveries are coming through on regular schedule.

Since opening their agency here for these two cars Smith & Howe have met with a phenomenal success and have been forced to ask for an increased allotment of cars.

The service department that is a part of the agency is also kept busy, with two expert mechanics looking after the business that is constantly coming in.

'RED BIRD' MEETS PUBLIC WELCOME

New Overland Model Fills Long Felt Want of Motoring Public

The enthusiastic reception given the Overland Red Bird, the newest addition to the Overland family, has been remarkable for the glowing comments on an achievement, acknowledged by a critical public to be one of the most complete models of its kind introduced in motoring circles this year.

Everywhere this latest creation of the engineering and designing departments of the Willys-Overland organization has met with undisguised popular favor and reports from salesrooms spread across the continent indicate that this city, singly, has attracted greater crowds of interested motorists than any display put on the floor in some time.

According to Harry Kennedy, sales manager of the George T. Smith, Willys-Overland agent, this Overland Red Bird will unquestionably span a gap in the line of Overland motor cars, which is now universally recognized as being complete. This new model is one of the outstanding, finest examples of automobile construction that has yet been shown to the American motorist.

Dealers are clamoring vociferously for large allotments to satisfy the demand already noticeable in every section of the country. This demand typifies the insistent call of the present day automobile purchaser for a car that leaves the factory sufficiently equipped to eliminate further buying of "extras," and in this respect the Overland Red Bird gratifies in every sense the ideal of the American family that is looking for distinction without undue extravagance.

Of Bargains

A. C. Fangman, manager of the Cut Rate Tire Store, 212 West Broadway, opposite the Post Office, is putting on another one of his big tire sales during the week of June 2 to June 9. He says he is making big reductions on tires from his already low prices. He also says that on account of the low prices maintained by the Cut Rate Tire Store, some people are under the impression that they are seconds or off-brands; he is very emphatic in his assertion that they do not carry any seconds whatsoever, and all tires handled by him are standard makes and of strictly first grade.

His racks contain practically all of the well known brands and highly advertised makes, and every tire sold is exactly as represented.

People who have in mind their vacation trip should take advantage of this sale and stock up on tires at the prices he is offering. A glimpse at his ad appearing in this paper will give you a better idea of prices offered.

PREPARE CAR IN PLANNING TOURS

Expert Urges Care of Every Detail When Starting On Long Trips

"The touring season will soon be here and the great joy of motorists will be to travel far and wide. In case you are about to embark upon an auto trip of any length be sure that you are 'all set' before you go," says Harry E. White of Harry E. White, Inc., San Fernando and Brand, Reno agents.

"First of all, be sure your car is mechanically right. We do not mean that your car should have a general overhauling before starting, but if there have been any little noticeable (not imaginary) irregularities existing, consult a good mechanic.

"Careful and systematic lubrication is always necessary, but be sure your car is well lubricated before starting on your trip. Be guided in the lubrication of your car by the lubricating chart in your instruction book. Don't overlook a single point of lubrication shown on the chart. It appears to be common practice to lubricate what seems to be the most important places, ignoring the balance. You might get by with this during town or short distance driving, but by no means take chances when touring. You cannot foretell what might happen if a brake shaft would stick or a steering connecting rod run dry.

Hints On Tires
"Tires are usually the bugbear of an extended auto trip. Your car should be equipped with the best tires in your possession, the poorer tires to be used as spares. Keep your tires inflated according to the recommendations of the manufacturers. Don't run on partly inflated tires. This breaks the casing and the increased friction generates more heat. For proof of this, place your hand on a properly inflated tire and on one under-inflated after a drive of fifteen miles or more and note the difference.

"It would not be possible even to attempt to suggest what should be taken, other than to be sure your tool and tire repair kits are complete, also include tire chains, mud or sand hooks that can be easily applied. Since the average auto jack is made small and compact for ease in storing and the base is too small to be of much use in sand or soft roads, we recommend including a hardwood block, one and a half inches thick and six or eight inches square, to prevent the jack from sinking when attempting to raise the car. It may be found necessary to dig down into the soft road a little for placing the block if the jack does not go under the axle as would happen with a flat tire."

offered them at the West Harvard street establishment. Business, he declares, is excellent, and prospects are brighter than they have ever been during the four years Bartlett & French have been in business here.

DELIVERIES FOR BUICK INCREASING

Tanner & Hall Listing Many New Prospects As Summer Opens

Compilation of the May figures on Buick sales shows a definite advance over those of April, which had been the high water mark of sales in this territory, according to Ray L. Galvin, sales manager of Tanner & Hall, Ltd., 237 South Brand, and he adds his sales force are as busy as the proverbial armed bill sticker with the hives in delivering cars to purchasers and in chasing up new prospects that are coming in rapidly every day.

The coming of summer is causing Buick sales to leap to an unprecedented figure all over the country, and the local agency is getting a generous share of this business as the automobile buyers stick by the reliable stand-by of the Buick line that is suitable for any duty in any weather and in any kind of country, Mr. Galvin declares.

"The roads all over the south-land bear eloquent tribute to the Advance Spark and Save on Gasoline

Some drivers do not realize the necessity for keeping the spark well advanced at all times. The rule is to advance the spark as far as it will stand without knocking. This uses the full length of the power stroke and so requires less gasoline. Try this experiment: While running at a fair speed on a level road, retard the spark. The car will slow down. Now open the throttle enough to get back to the same speed. This extra throttle opening represents just so much more gasoline used to overcome the handicap of a retarded spark.

IGNITION EFFICIENCY

One of the common causes of ignition trouble is that of defective contact points, which are among the main parts of the ignition system. It is upon their condition that the strength of the high tension sparks to the cylinder depends.

popularity of the Buick line," says Mr. Galvin, "and when one tours over the roads of this region he can get a fine idea of the number of Buicks in use by checking them up as he meets them on the road. He will have to check them as he meets them, for it's a cinch he isn't going to overtake and pass very many of them."

MAXWELL

JUNE PROSPECTS PROMISE RECORD

Studebaker Sales Leap in May, Says Manager of Packer Auto Co.

Business of the Packer Auto Company, Colorado and Brand, local Studebaker agents, during May reached a figure that marks one of the best months in the firm's history in this territory, and the prospects for June, according to Robert L. Conover, sales manager, are so far ahead of those in May that June promises to overshadow the best that the firm has yet done in the way of sales. So great has the pressure on the Packer sales force grown that a new salesman has been added, L. P. Conover, a brother of the sales manager, who has been selling Studebakers in the Seattle district for the past four years and who has already made his presence felt in the local organization.

"The worth of the Studebaker," Mr. Conover declares, "is shown by the trade-in value of the car, and we have the assurance of many owners that the amount that dealers are willing to pay for Studebakers that have been in active service for three or four or five years is higher than on any other car built today, the percentage of depreciation being the lowest. This is due to the hidden quality that is built into every Studebaker, instead of being put into the paint and the unessential trimmings that give a car a striking appearance but that do not add one iota to the merit or the stability of the car. Weakness of construction may be hidden by paint and fancy decorations, but the weak spots soon develop in the case of a mediocre automobile, and the inevitable depreciation readily paves the way to the junk heap for a car that lacks honest construction, and that is not built up to an integrity standard, as is the Studebaker."

MAXWELL CO. HAS SALT WATER WELL

Improved Heat Treating of Materials in Cars Is Now Assured

The lengths to which the Maxwell Motor Corporation has gone, to make certain that its automobiles are built in the most efficient way, are well illustrated in a recent announcement received by the Glendale Motor Car Company, 124 West Colorado street, local Maxwell and Chalmers dealers, stating that a salt water well has just been drilled at the Detroit plants of the company and is now in use. The water from it assures improved heat-treating of the necessary materials entering Maxwell and Chalmers cars.

"For all intensive heat-treating purposes tests have proved that salt water is more desirable than fresh," says Lyman P. Clark. "This fact, as well as the need for cold water that would remain at a constant temperature, prompted the corporation to drill the well, after advice from geologists that salt water underlies a considerable section about Detroit."

"Natural salt water, of the exact solution and temperature wanted, was struck at 851 feet below the surface. Its constant temperature is 55 Fahrenheit, the correct coolness for best heat-treating."

"The well enables Maxwell to eliminate the daily purchase of 4,000 pounds of ice during the summer, and also that of a considerable quantity of salt to make

NASH OUTPUT TO SET NEW RECORD

May Production Schedule Is Shattered by Big Demand for Cars

May will be the biggest month in the history of the Nash Motors Company, it is believed, when the complete output has been tabulated.

Shipments for the first half of May totaled 3,016 cars, the production schedule for the month calling for 6,000 cars. "Even with shipments for the month of 6,000 cars we will not meet the full demand," said E. H. McCarty, general sales manager of the Nash Motors Company in a letter to E. B. Sutton, South Maryland, local distributor. "As a matter of fact we have orders from dealers for nearly 2000 cars in excess of the May production schedule. Demand for the Nash product has increased so rapidly that throughout the entire spring, each month has eclipsed all previous records in point of production and sales."

"In the first six months last year Nash Motors shipped practically as many cars as the entire calendar year of 1921, but our total shipments from January 1 to date greatly exceeded our total shipments from January 1 to July 1, 1922. March of this year was the biggest month in the company's history up to that time; then along came April and shattered the March record and now May production will eclipse April and will outstrip May, 1922, which has stood as the company's largest month."

"The fact that demand for Nash cars this year is spread pretty generally throughout the country is a gratifying feature of the present situation. A year ago this was not the case for at that time a number of sections of the country had not really begun to return to normal conditions so far as general business conditions were concerned. Backward spots now are few and far between."

In anticipation of a heavy demand for the Nash product this year plant extensions have been made at the four-cylinder car factory and have about been completed at the Nash closed body works in Milwaukee. This will mean greater production facilities during the summer and fall months.

Fire Extinguisher on Auto Is Necessity

By all means carry a small fire extinguisher on your car, and keep it in some place where it is easily accessible. Besides lowering the insurance rate it gives you a feeling of confidence. In case a fire starts around the carburetor begin at the bottom and work up. If there is burning gasoline on the ground under the car put that out first, otherwise it will set fire to the gasoline above as fast as you extinguish it.

ELIMINATE GRAFTING

The highway commission of Maryland has twenty paid motorcycle deputies, who patrol the state and have the power to make speed traps and cause arrests thereby eliminating the "grafting" constable and rural squire.

Estimated costs of getting the water to the surface was less than half of those of city water, to which must be added other costs because it is fresh.

"The well will yield a far greater supply of salt water than is necessary as yet. Its yearly capacity is estimated at 31,260,000 gallons. Thirty-six thousand are now being consumed per ten hour working day."

Jimmy Murphy Has Great Racing Record

had won both the French Grand Prix and 1922 Indianapolis race and he had the right to confidence when he speeded out onto the track Wednesday.

It was Murphy who furnished the race fans with thrill after thrill, mile after mile, first holding first place, sometimes second, third, fourth and fifth. He showed bursts of speed, which undoubtedly on the stretches were better than 100 miles an hour. However, he suffered slight motor trouble and at one time was forced to drop back to ninth place. He gained steadily as he reeled off the miles, finally pushing his car into third place, retaining this position to the finish.

Milton of St. Paul, Minn., coming in first, not only won the $20,000 first prize, but he took down $9,650 offered in lap prizes and about $5,000 offered by accessories firms. Milton's time for the 500 miles was 5:28:06.27, giving him an average speed of 91.4 miles per hour as compared with Jimmy Murphy's speed of 94.48 miles per hour, winning him first place last year.

Harry Hartz of Los Angeles, who finished second in the 1922 race, thundered across the finish line five miles behind Milton, while Jimmy Murphy was about thirteen miles behind Hartz. Hartz' time was 5:33:05.90, for an average speed of 88.08 miles an hour.

Both words, turban and tulip, are of the same origin, the Persian word dulband, meaning a scarf around the head.

Don't Delay Grinding Valves When Needed

It is not good practice to see how long the valves can hold compression without grinding. With every day's use they are growing worse, which means that they are burning and warping without it being noticed. When the job of grinding is finally attempted the valves will be found in such a bad shape that it will take a great deal of work to bring them back to condition. They should never run more than 2,000 miles without grinding, and every 1,500 miles would be better.

WORN BEARINGS

When bearings begin to wear they are soon knocked loose, depending upon the thrust of the engaging member. Even the slightest amount of wear will develop a knock which greatly hastens the end of the bearing.

TODAY—The First Marathon Dance; California Salmon Scarce; Self-Government at U. C.

MONDAY—L. A. After Accessory Thieves.

By ELLIS H. MARTIN
For International News Service

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—The first marathon dance was one of necessity.

And, instead of being a product of the present-day jazz period of unrest, it was a frontier idea of prolonging life.

"Snowshoe" Thompson was the originator of the marathon dance, if historical records are correct.

Thompson, a Norwegian by birth, was a mail carrier over the Sierras of California when California was an outpost of western civilization.

Snowstorms meant little to the hardy "Snowshoe," who, when winter and snow shut off all human migration, thought nothing of hitching his dispatch pouch on his back and "snowshoeing" through the drifts to carry his precious mail.

On one of these trips he was caught in an unusually severe mountain blizzard. Despite his great strength he found it impossible to go on. To lie down meant probable death.

"Snowshoe" laid aside his pack and, clad only in his hiking pants, woolen shirt and socks, found a flat rock and started a night-long marathon dance to keep himself from freezing to death.

There were no rest periods for "Snowshoe." He kept up his dance against death and, when the storm abated in the morning, put on his snowshoes and mail-packs and continued his journey, with little thought he had made a record for posterity to shoot at sixty years later.

His famous snowshoes are a part of a pioneer exhibition of relics at Fort Sutter, Sacramento.

California's famous salmon fisheries are in danger of becoming only a memory. Although the season has been on nearly a month catches have been negligible. Boats have often returned to Monterey, the center of the fishing district, with only 10 or 15 pounds of salmon. Many boat owners have become discouraged and returned to San Francisco.

The Fish and Game commission reports that only 170 licenses have been issued for salmon fishing so far this year against 300 this time last year.

Short-sighted policy on the part of fishermen and canners in fighting protective legislation is the cause of the shortage, officials of the Game Commission declare. Legislation to provide for better protection through a two months' closed season in summer and elimination of gill netting above Sacramento probably will be passed by the legislature, but it will remain to be seen whether these protective measures have been adopted too late to save this valuable food industry.

The largest laboratory of student self-government in the world is located at the University of California, at Berkeley.

The judicial body of the students is the Student Affairs committee, which enforces the laws made by the executive committee and serves to solve the problems of cheating in examinations, the misuse of the library and student body privileges.

Students are judged by a body of their own equals who might have done the same thing, rather than by a court of superiors. Types of punishment vary according to the seriousness of the offense, a mere reprimand from the committee being the most lenient. If the case deserves more serious or severe punishment the dean or president of the university reprimands the student for his or her offense.

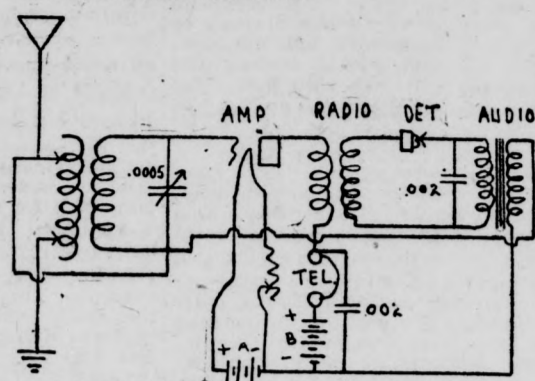

Probation, where the student is not allowed to take part in campus activities, or temporary dismissal from college for six months or one year, or, in very serious cases, permanent dismissal are some of the more drastic measures taken by the Student Affairs committee. In case of cheating there is an entire loss of units for that subject.

A unanimous vote of the committee is required before any action is taken, in order to prevent students from being convicted on circumstantial evidence.

RADIO

BY FRANK CHAPMAN

A ONE TUBE REFLEX

Some fans have encountered difficulty with the three tube reflex circuit, so a one tube reflex hook-up is in line. This is very simple to either operate or construct. The main point to be careful of is, have all your wires short, so there will be no interaction between circuits. While this set is not being compared with the Armstrong "super," it will bring in distant stations on a loop and will work a loud speaker or local stations other than low-powered ones. The extra cost over that of a single-circuit regenerative set is the two transformers, extra B batteries and crystal detector, but it gives you one step of radio detector and one of audio frequency amplification.

The various parts not counting tube, telephones and batteries should not cost over $25.00. They are as follows: Standard variocoupler, vernier, .0005 microfarad variable condenser, socket, plain filament rheostat, radio frequency transformer, audio frequency transformer, two fixed condensers of .002 microfarad capacity, and crystal detector. In the tests three types of tubes were used, WD-11, De Forest and 201 A. The latter two gave better results.

If the primary of the variable inductance has unit taps it is not necessary to use a variable condenser in the aerial, but if it has none, it is advisable to use one for fine adjustments. The primary and secondary coils are connected together as shown. The B battery voltage varies with tubes and runs between sixty and one hundred and ten, which should be determined by experiment.

A crystal detector should be used that will hold its adjustment. Otherwise best results cannot be obtained. It is best to obtain one of the inclosed type.

It was found that when using the 201-A audion that better control of filament current was obtained with a 25-ohm rheostat, the standard rheostat answers for the WD-11.

In buying transformers, it is suggested that reliable makes be obtained, as nothing is gained by buying cheap material, which sooner or later goes bad and you then have to get the better grade after all.

One of the fixed condensers is shunted across the telephones and B battery, while the other goes across the primary of the audio frequency transformer, to enable the radio-frequency currents to be by-passed around these instruments.

The drawing shows the circuit used, which gave the best results. Others were tried, but did not give the signal audibility that this one did. This set can be made up on a seven by ten inch panel.

For local work a loop aerial can be used, which can be mounted on a plug and inserted in the jack, which should be of the two-circuit type and connected between the secondary coil and variable condensers. This will then cut out the primary and secondary coils when the loop is used, but the variable condenser will be connected across the loop for tuning.

It is recommended that this be used with a small aerial, whether indoors or out, for best results, but it gives great possibilities for campers, auto parties and the like, where a portable set is desired and when within reasonable distance of a broadcasting station. Unlike the usual detector one-tube set, the jack or telephone binding posts are situated in the center of the set and not to the extreme right as is customary.

This set is something of a loose-coupler circuit, and the reproduction of broadcasting stations is much better than over the single-circuit regenerative type of set. It is my belief that the reflex, unlike other "marvelous" sets, is the ideal combination.

In using audions an amplifier tube will work as a detector, but not as efficiently.

A short aerial gives sharp tuning while a long one picks up more energy.

If you want to hear clear radio-phone signals, listen in on a crystal detector.

THE RECORD IN 1933

According to Joe Strube, if this dance craze keeps up, perhaps ten years from now you'll see a clipping like this:

"Some of our readers will perhaps remember the dance craze that struck this city some ten years ago. It will be recalled how the record in that day was something like ninety-four hours' consecutive dancing and was thought a tremendous feat. This thought has been started again by the well-known cake-eaters, Jimmy (Shufflin') De Luca and Walter (Jigger) Dinan. With the help of their respective partners they began dancing on February 13, and are still going strong. They have worn out fourteen player pianos, ninety-seven Victrola records, eight talking machines, seventy-six harmonicas, twenty-eight jazz bands and fifty-three jews-harps. One of the most interesting features was that of Jigger Dinan, who, being stricken while dancing with appendicitis, was operated upon while stepping around. Shufflin' De Luca is being kept alive by oxygen tanks. The two Jans, being very light on their partners' feet, are able to stand the dancing. The winner will receive two tickets to the cops' ball in Sparkplug hall, Bronx."

Dear Roy—I suspect you've been a flivver driver in some dark period of your past. If so, you may be able to advise me. I have one that is the most ornery cuss to start when cold and I've tried everything. I've been told to get the best of it, but still have to holler for help.

Now, a friend at meltahut... Now, a friend tells me there's a wire sticking up along the dashboard with a handle on it like the opener on a sardine can, and to give that a turn, but I'm afraid if I do I'll peel the whole body off of the chassis. I'll do just as you say.—J. L. B.

POEMS THAT LIVE

MILD THE MIST UPON THE HILL

Mild the mist upon the hill, Telling not of storms tomorrow; No, the day has wept its full, Spent its store of silent sorrow.

Oh, I've gone back to the days of youth, I am a child once more, And 'neath my father's sheltering roof, And near the old hall door,

I watch this cloudy evening fall, After a day of rain; Blue mists, sweet mists of summer pall, The horizon's mountain chain.

The damp stands in the long, green grass, As thick as morning's tears; And dreamy scents of fragrance pass, That breathe of other years.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

BY HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S DANDELIONS

One day, when the Fuzzy Fox hurried home to his den, there he found, waiting for him, the Wootzie Wolf. The Wolf was hopping and skipping about the floor, laughing with glee.

"Why are you so jolly?" asked the Fox.

"Because," answered the Wolf, "I have just thought of a good trick by which we may catch Uncle Wiggily and nibble his ears."

"Don't talk to me about tricks!" snapped the Fox.

"Why not?" asked the Wolf, in surprise.

"Because," growled the Fox, "every time we try to play a trick on Uncle Wiggily he turns the tables and plays a trick on us. None of that for me."

"Oh, but listen!" begged the Wolf. "This is something new and different. I'll tell you about it."

"Very well—go on," spoke the Fox, indifferent like and casual.

"This is what I'm going to do," said the Wolf. "I'll get some red paint and color my nose pink, like Uncle Wiggily's. I'll hide in the bushes near the path where the old rabbit hops from his hollow stump bungalow every day. All I will have sticking out will be my pink colored nose. Uncle Wiggily will see it, he will think it is Mr. or Mrs. Littletail, the rabbit mother and father of Sammie and Susie, for all rabbits have pink noses, you see."

"Well, what next?" snapped the Fox.

"This is next," answered the Wolf. "Uncle Wiggily will hop toward what he thinks is a pink rabbit's nose, like his own, but, instead, it will be mine. And as soon as he comes near enough I'll grab him. How is that for a trick?"

"Pretty good," agreed the Fox, though of course it would be pretty bad for Uncle Wiggily if the wolf caught him. However, we shall see what happens.

The Wolf bought a new red paint and, mixing it with water, colored his nose pink. Then he hid in the bushes, not far from the hollow stump bungalow and waited.

Just about this time Uncle Wiggily started out to look for an adventure. He had not hopped very far before he met Baby Bunty, the cute little rabbit girl.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily," called Baby Bunty, "will you please come to the fields with me and help me pick some yellow dandelion flowers?"

"I want to make a bouquet for the Lady Mouse Teacher."

"Why, of course I'll help you pick some yellow dandelion flowers, Baby Bunty," answered Mr. Longears. "Only you must be careful not to sniff and smell of them too hard."

"Because," answered the bunny gentleman, "the flowers have a yellow dust on them, called pollen, and if this dust gets up your nose you'll sneeze."

"All right," laughed Baby Bunty, and soon she and Uncle Wiggily were gathering the yellow dandelions. All of a sudden Baby Bunty exclaimed:

"What's the matter?" asked Uncle Wiggily, twinkling his pink nose.

"Oh, I smelled of a dandelion and it made me sneeze," said the little rabbit girl with a jolly laugh. "But I think we have picked enough flowers now, Uncle Wiggily."

So she and the bunny gentleman started back home, but they had not gone very far before, all at once, Uncle Wiggily saw something pink in the bushes.

"That must be Sammie or Susie," he said, sticking out a pink nose. "This is the bunny uncle."

"It looks more like a red flower," cried Baby Bunty. "Let me pick it, Uncle Wiggily," and before the bunny gentleman could stop her Bunty sprang toward the bushes where the Wolf was hiding with his pink nose. And, in an instant, Baby Bunty saw the bad chap hiding there.

"Oh, ho!" she cried. "I'll fix you!" With that she held her bunch of yellow dandelion flowers on the Wolf's pink nose. The yellow pollen dust made the Wolf sneeze. "Ker-choo! Ker-choo! Ker-choo!" And he sneezed so hard that he turned a somersault and fell on his nose, and then, of course, he couldn't nibble Uncle Wiggily's ears.

"Baby Bunty, you are a brave little rabbit," said Mr. Longears as he and Bunty hurried home. And when the Fox saw the red-nosed Wolf he said:

"I told you so! We'll never catch that rabbit!"

And I hope they never do; don't you?

So if the piece of cheese doesn't throw powdered sugar at the apple pie and make the poor thing

"Why are you so jolly?" asked the Fox.

"Because," answered the Wolf, "I have just thought of a good trick by which we may catch Uncle Wiggily and nibble his ears."
